Ladybug is trapped in a spiderweb

By: Kalea Fuller ☺

1 It was a bright sunny day, and the ladybug went on her way

2 She Climbed up a tree-

3 But fell down and said...
"WEEEEEEEE!!!"

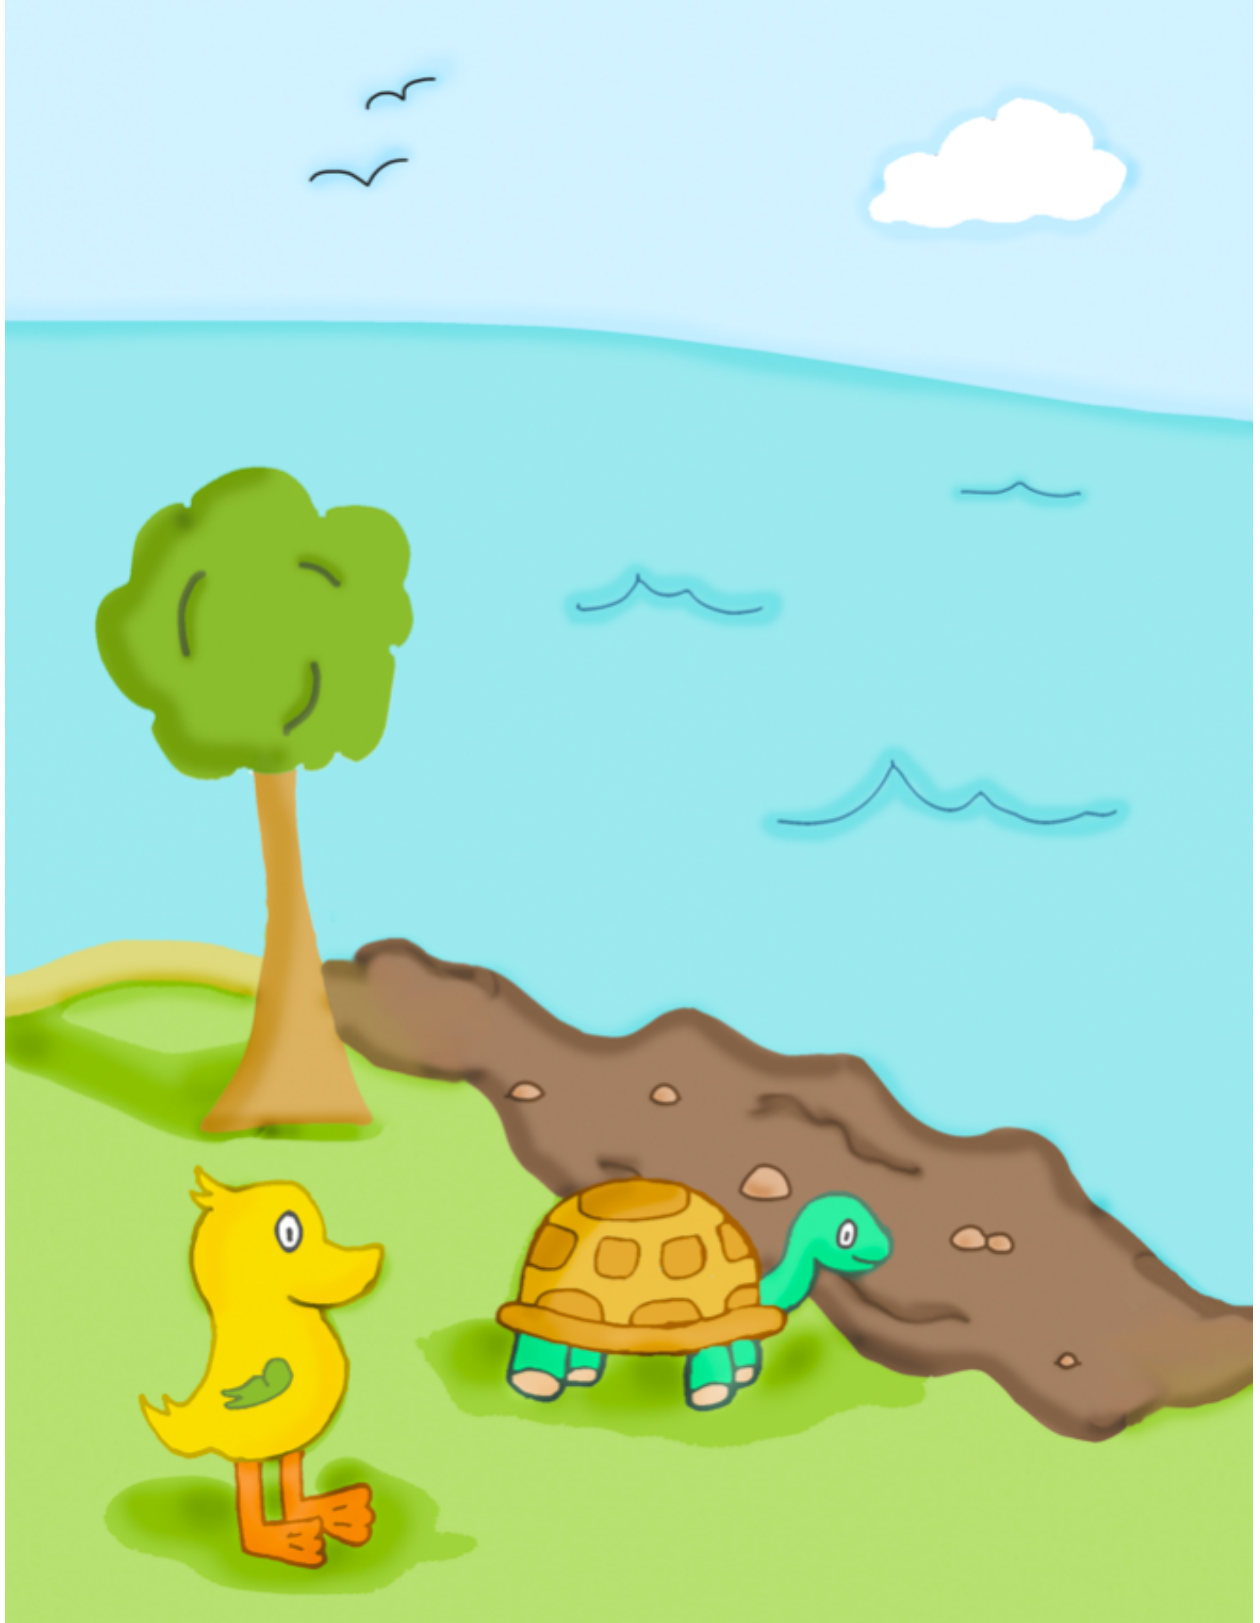

4 She did not land with a thud, or in any mud,

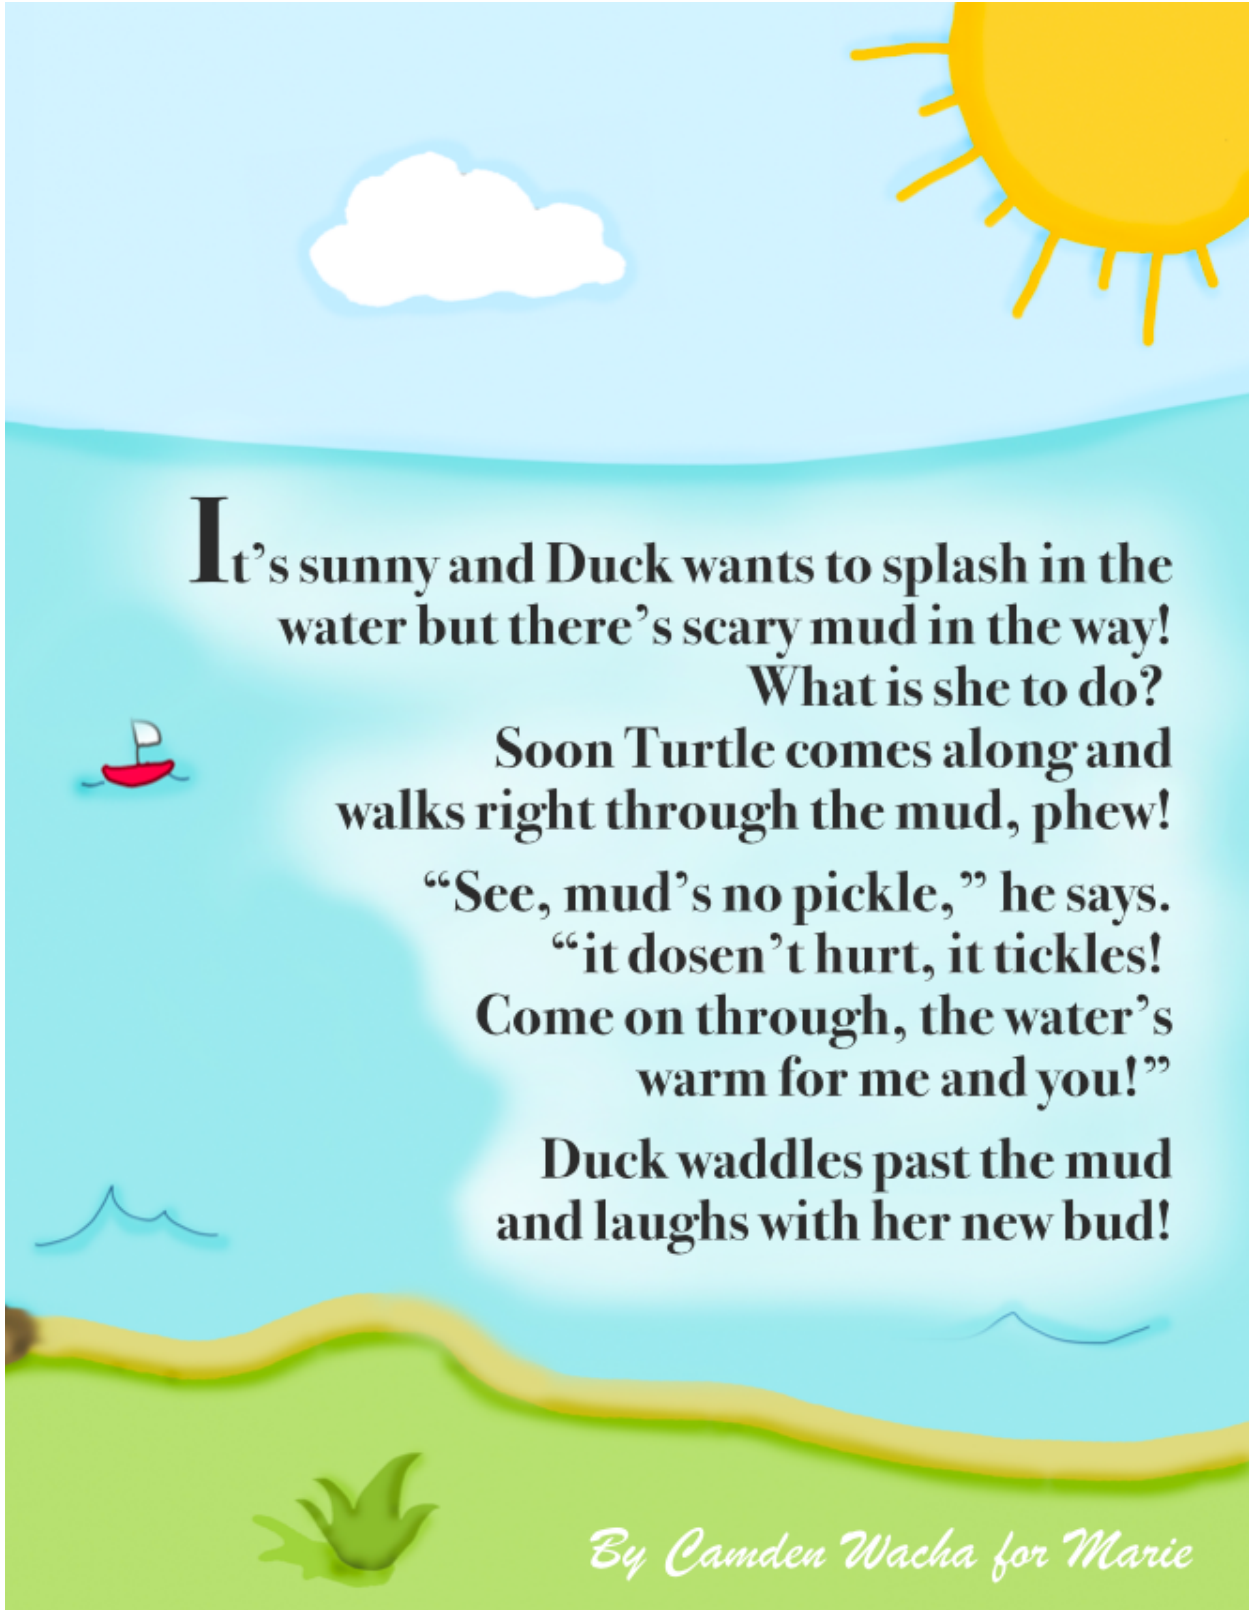

5 Soon came a spider!!
Her eyes grew wider!

6 The spider crawled over and said with glee,
"would you like some tea?"

7 As the spider untangled the lady bug, they sat down and smiled.

8 They drank the tea and the ladybug said,
"this day is wild!"

It's sunny and Duck wants to splash in the water but there's scary mud in the way!

What is she to do?

Soon Turtle comes along and walks right through the mud, phew!

"See, mud's no pickle," he says.

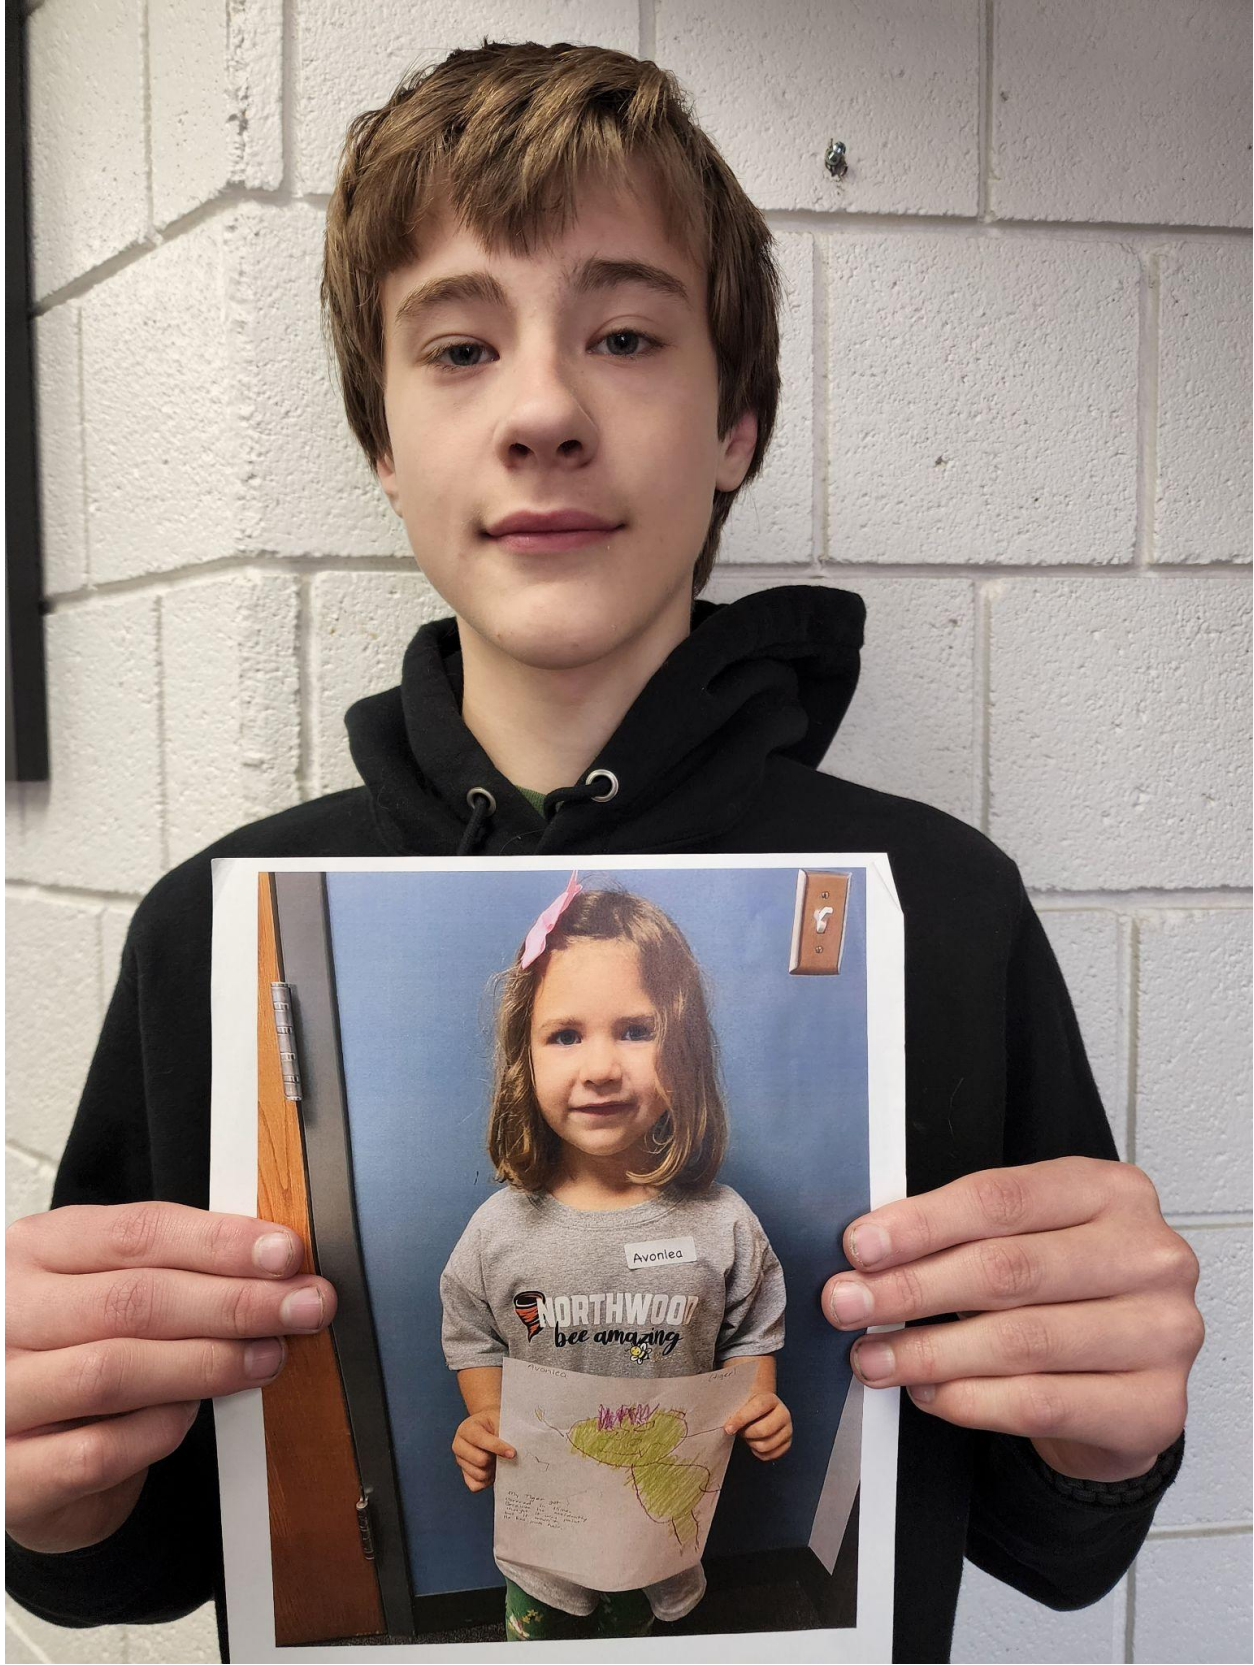

"it dosen't hurt, it tickles!

Come on through, the water's warm for me and you!"

Duck waddles past the mud and laughs with her new bud!

The PINKED HAIR

The Green Tiger went to get Pink Slime to play with.

The Slime spilled, it turned out to be Pink Paint. The Green Tiger is Sad.

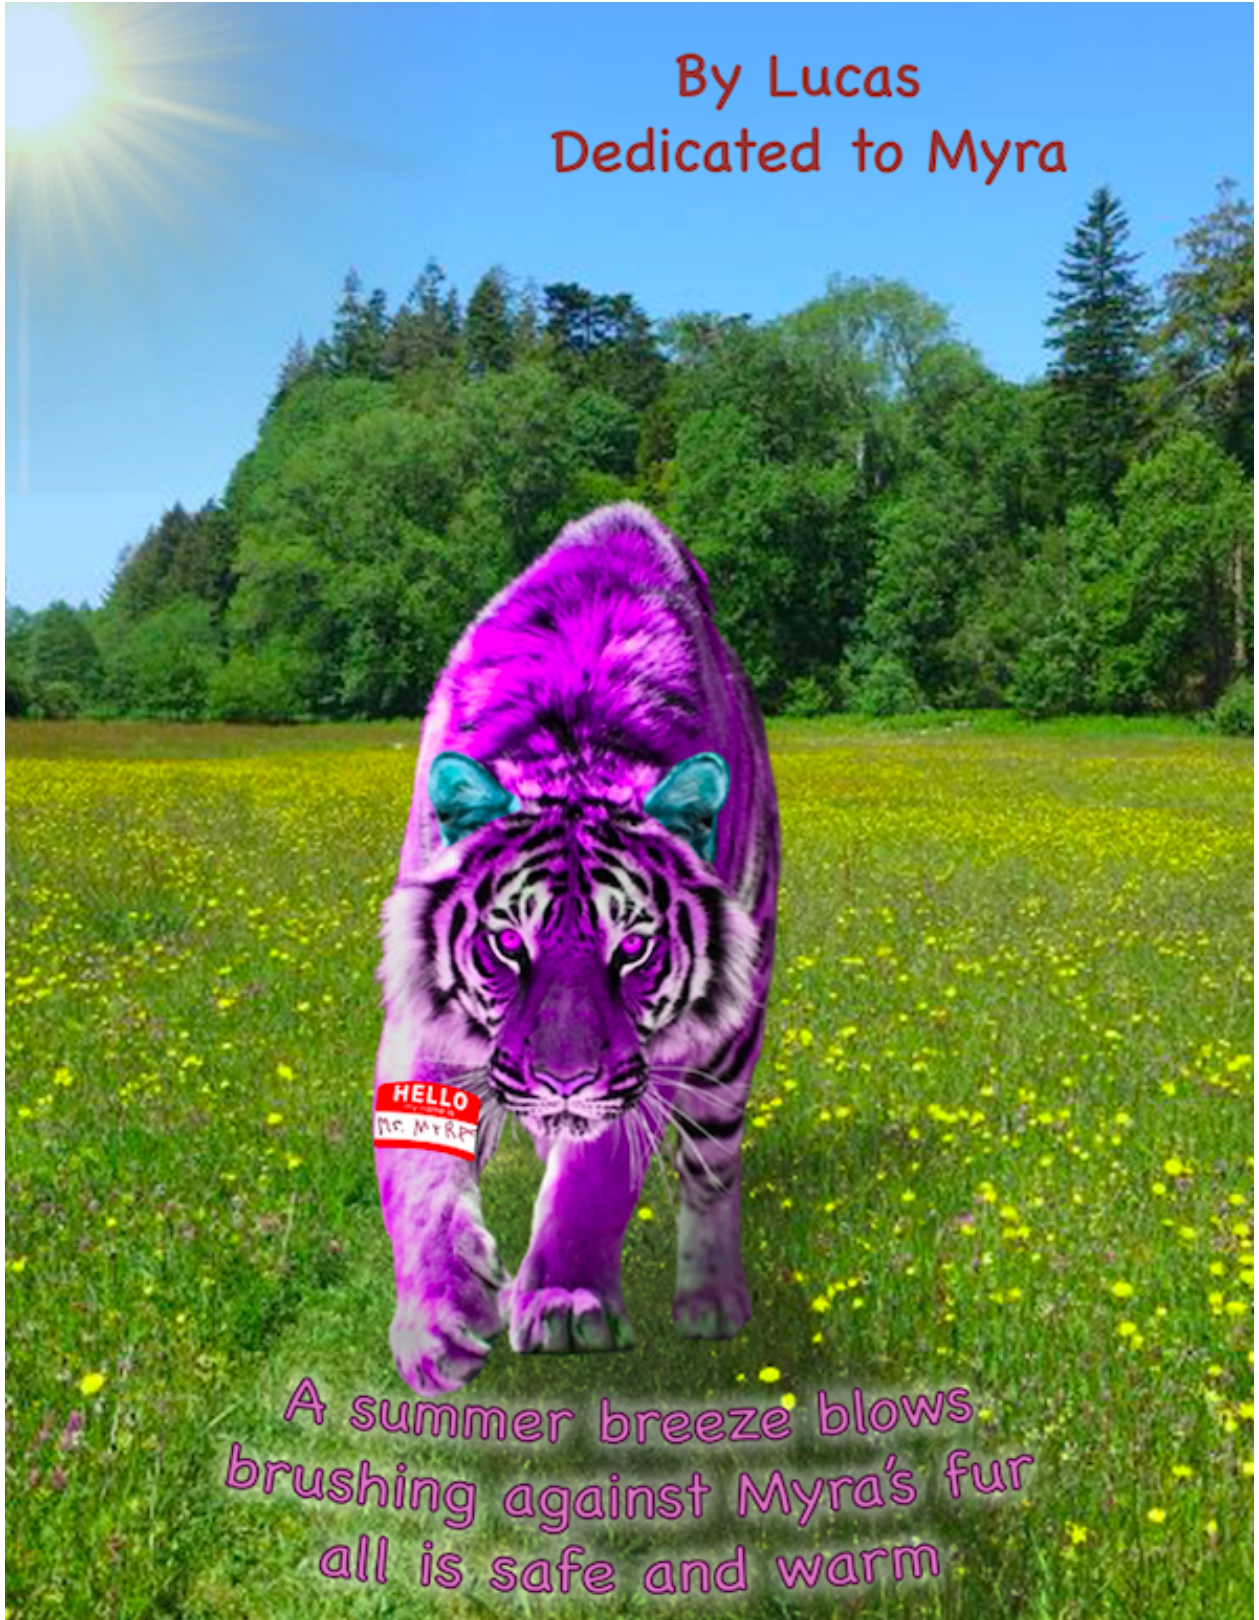

TIGER

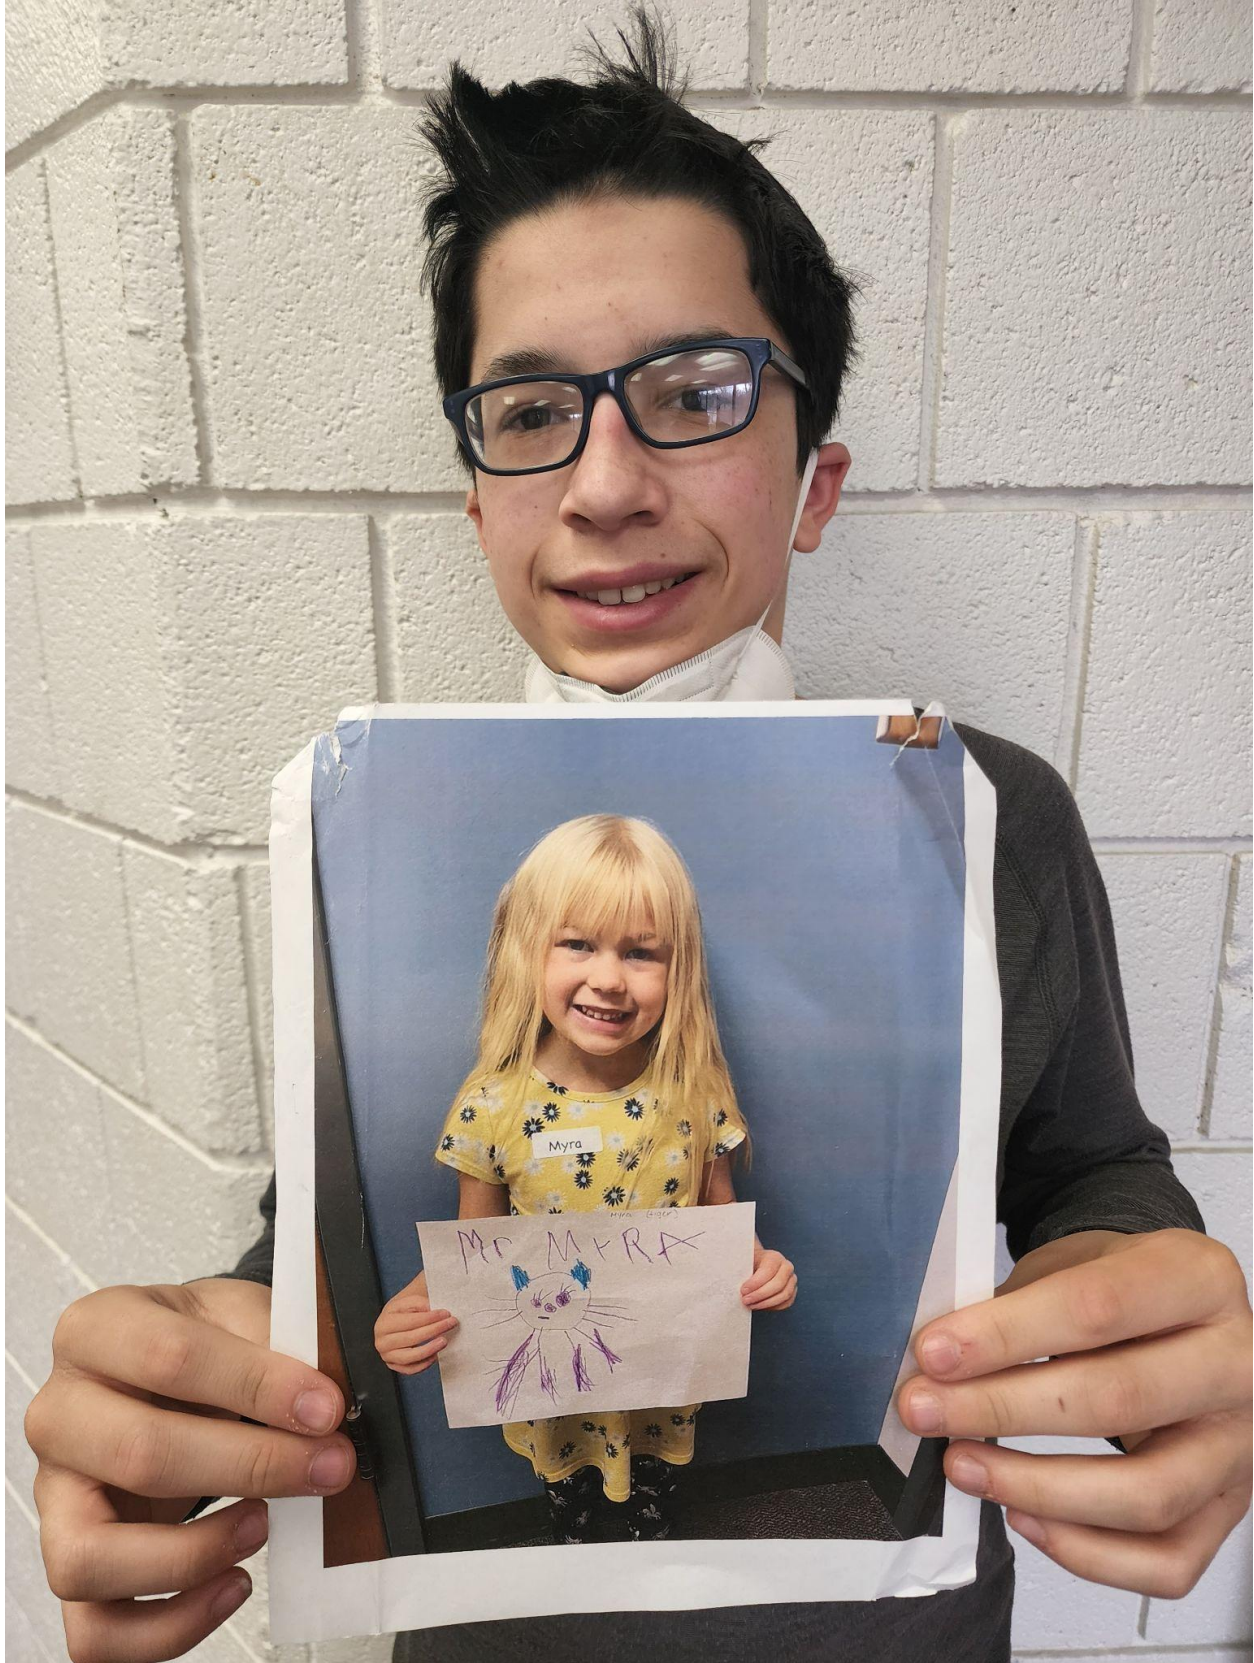

The Tiger Got PINK HAIR!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!!

BY: MALACHITE AND AVONLEA

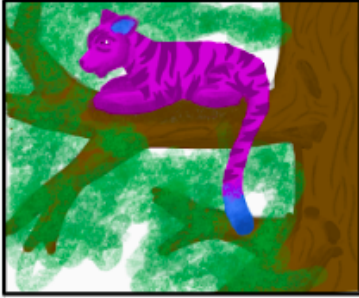

By Lucas
Dedicated to Myra

A summer breeze blows brushing against Myra's fur
all is safe and warm

This is Mr. Myra. Mr. Myra is a tiger. But there is something that makes him different from all the other tigers. Normally, tigers are orange and white with black stripes, but Mr. Myra is a pink and blue tiger with purple stripes.

All the other tigers make fun of Mr. Myra for being different than them. They laugh, call him names, and don't let him hangout with them.

But it doesn't bother Mr. Myra because his fur color makes him special. He is the only pink tiger in the WHOLE jungle and that makes him proud.

The Pink Pond Poem

By Carleigh Evans

There was a girl,
her hair colored blonde,
one day she skipped down,
to a pink colored pond.

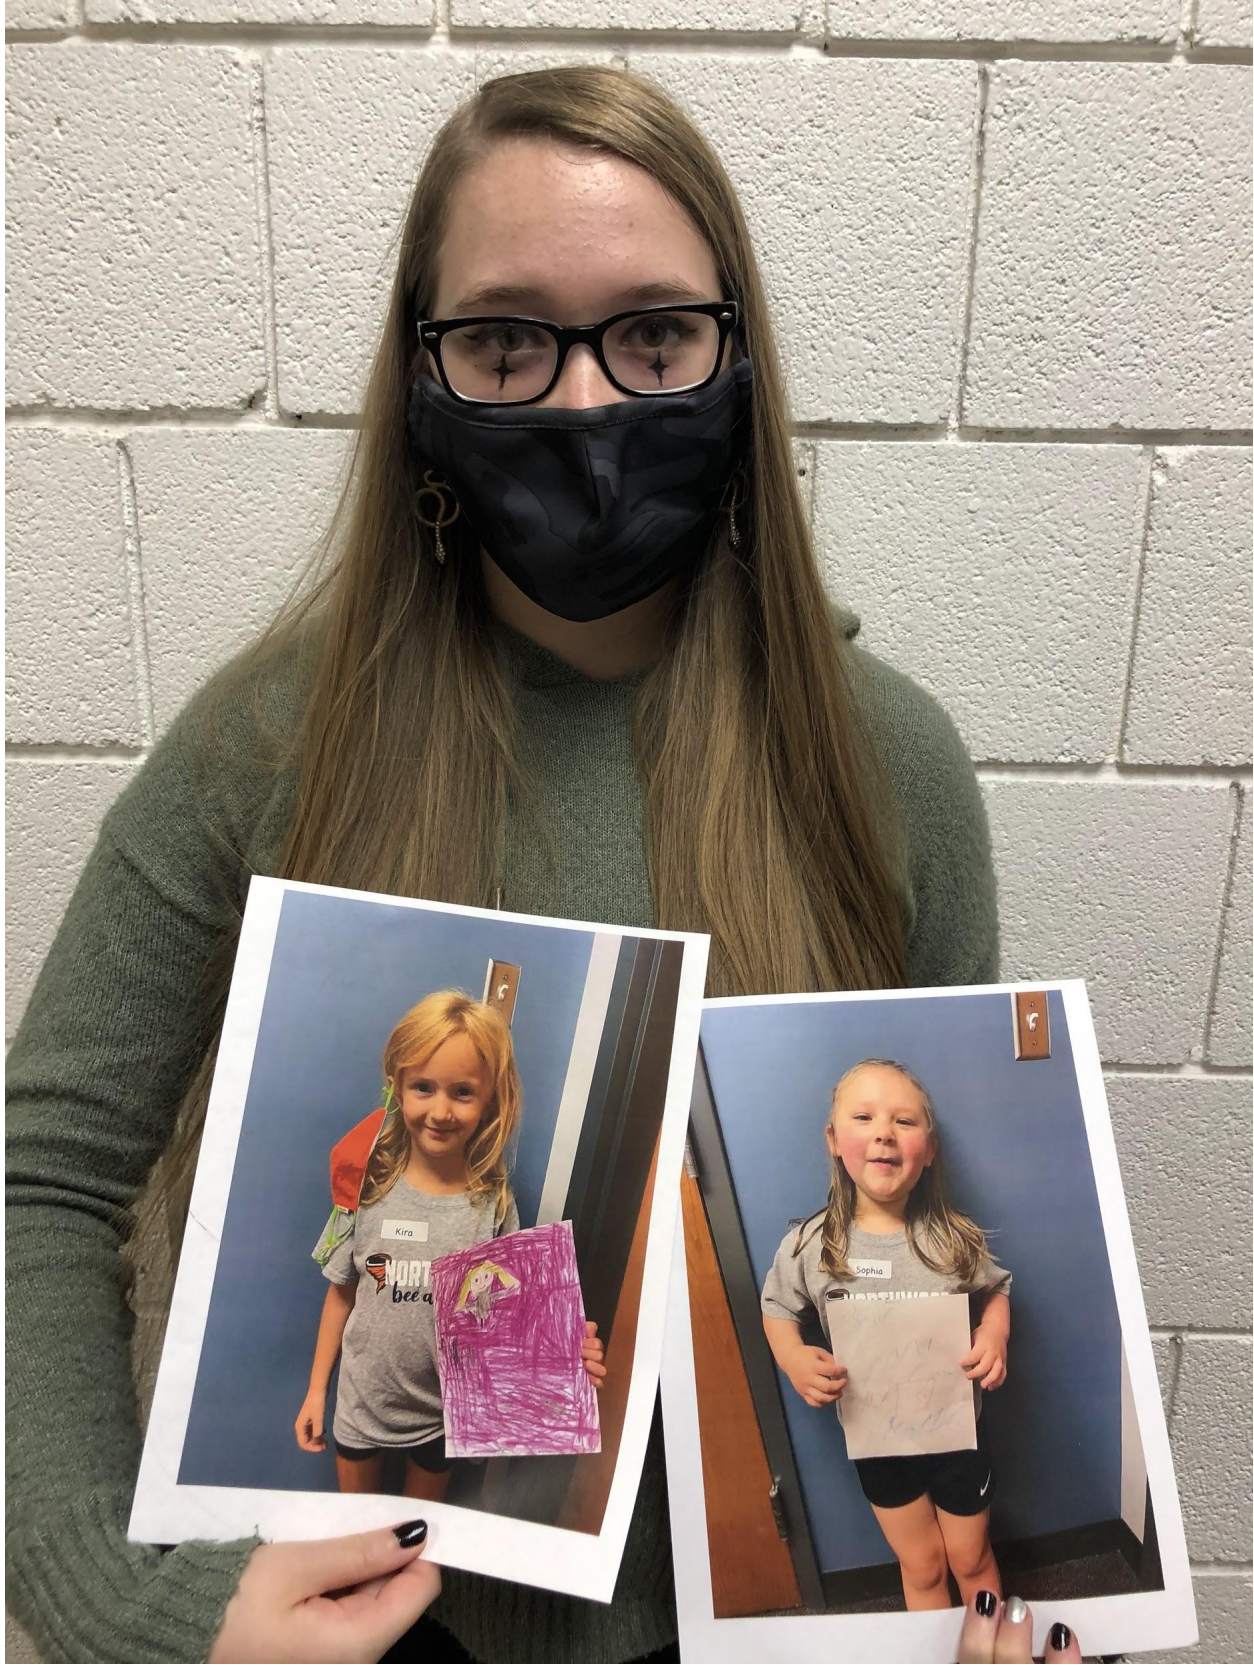

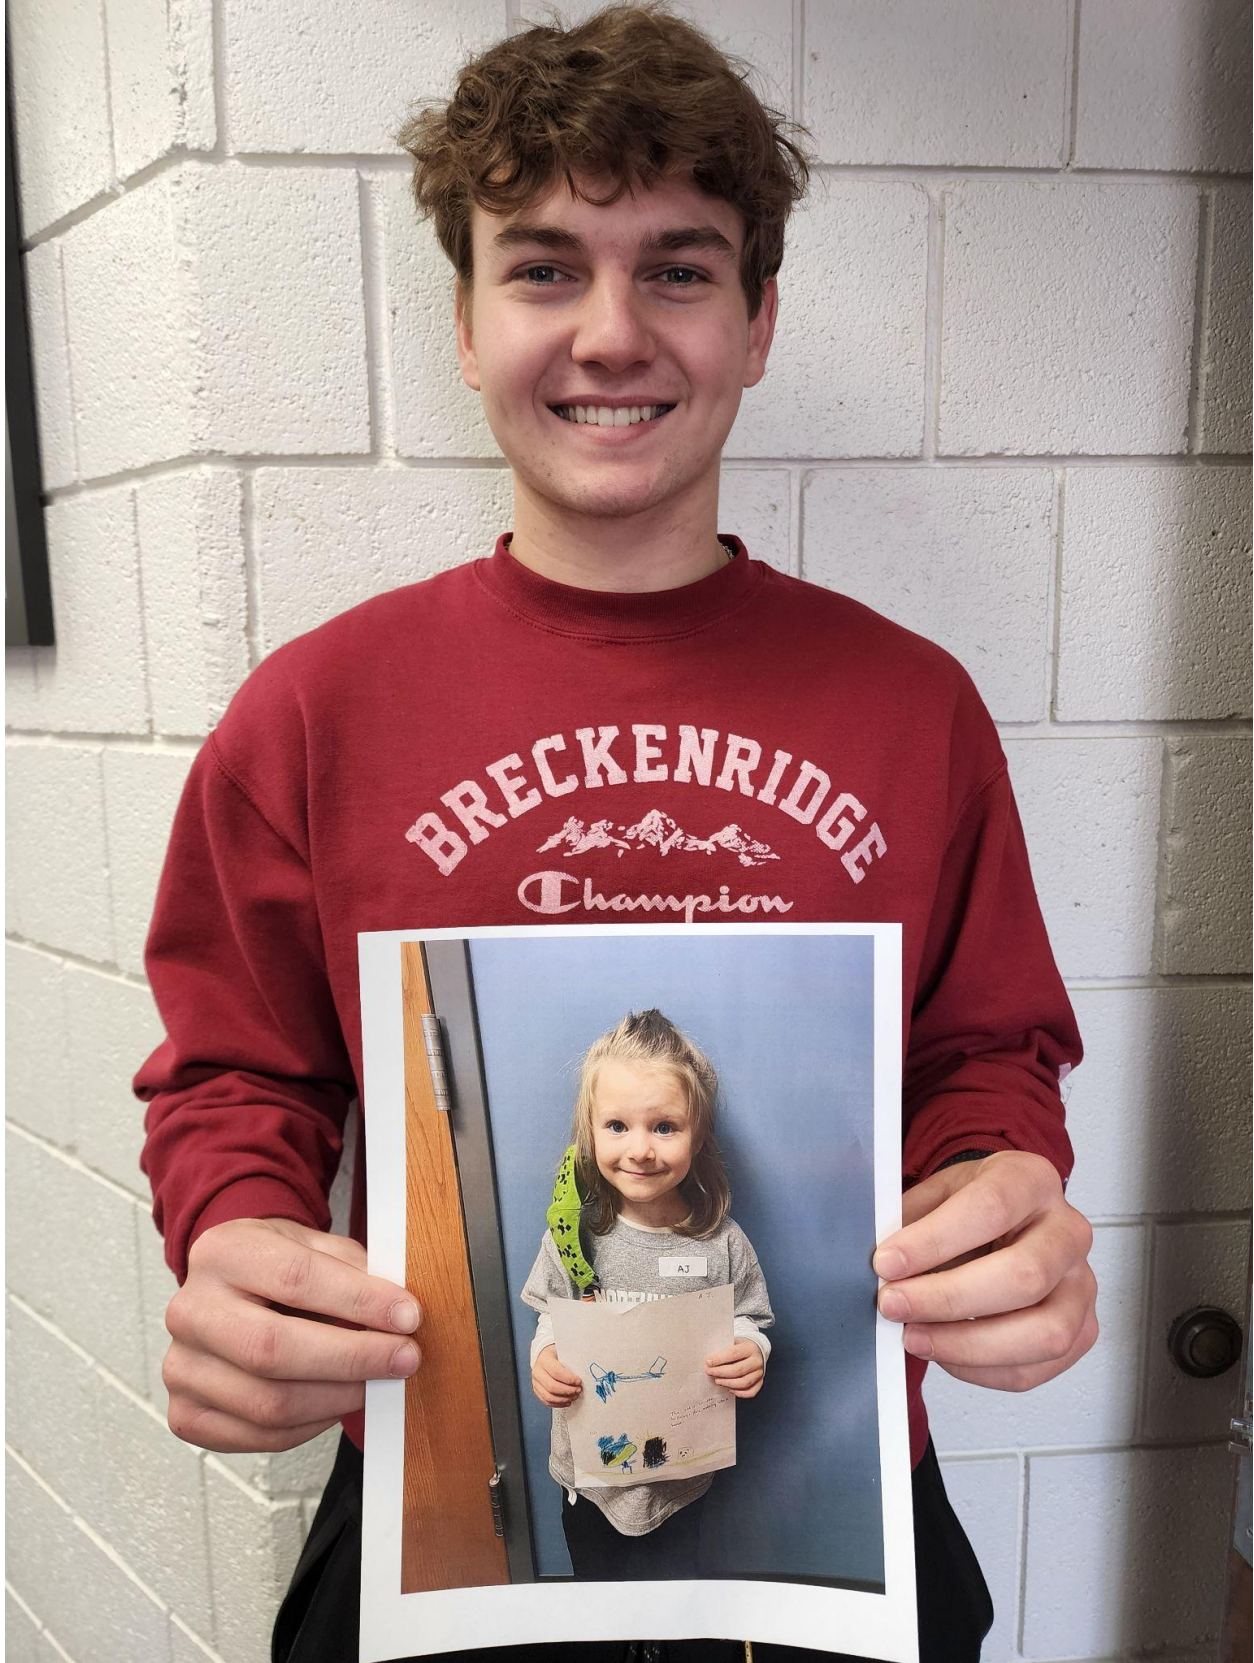

She sat by the water,
hearing the waves go "swish,"
jumping up out of the pond,
she saw a big orange fish.

The fish swam by,
and said "hello,"
now as the sun sets red,
it was time to go.

Poem inspired by Kira & Sophia.

Every day, AJ the cat sits by the window and watches the airplanes fly. He has always wanted to fly, and not just to be a passenger, but a pilot. AJ knows that if he puts his mind to it,

There is a cat. the cat's name is Bob. Bob likes to go on walks. Sometimes he gets lost, though.

One day, Bob left his BLUE house and went for a walk.

But when he looked around, he was lost! Should he ask someone for help? "No," He thought. "I don't want to bother anyone." So he continued on his way.

On his way, he passed the RED house, and the GREEN house, and the PURPLE house, but he could not find the BLUE house.

Bob the cat was not happy. He could not find his BLUE house! What will Bob do?!?

Then, another cat walked up to him. He asked if Bob was lost. "Yes," Bob answered, "But I don't want to waste any of your time"

The Rainbow Pig

Once upon a time, there was a very special pig. The pig was so special that there wasn't any other pig like it, but the pig was not treated kindly for being different. Many of the other pigs would laugh and make fun of the rainbow pig for not being a normal pig. "Oh me," the pig said "If only I wasn't born with this rainbow color skin, then I would be normal like all the others."

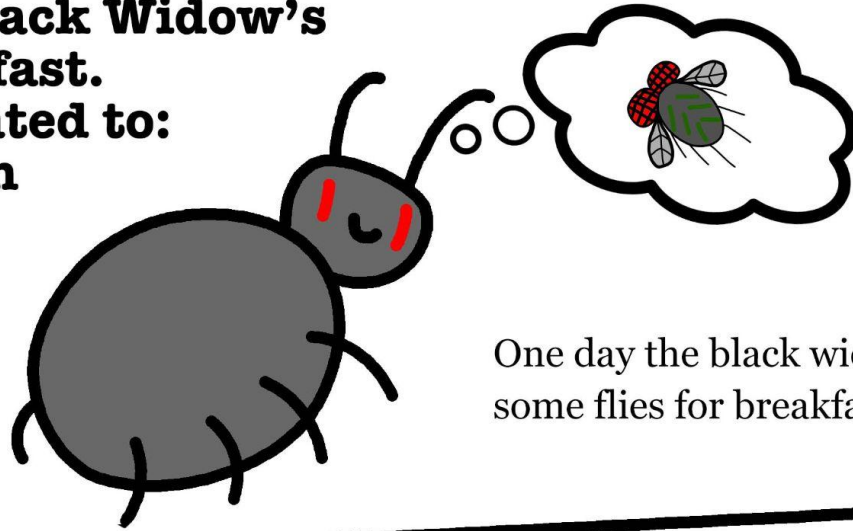

The pig sat down next to a tree and was about to cry, but then all of a sudden an apple got dropped on the pig's head. "Ouch that hurt who was that," said the pig. "Sorry didn't mean for that to happen," said a little sweet voice. The pig stands and looks up. There was a little squirrel looking at him from the tree.

"High there you looked sad," the squirrel said
"I was being made fun of for being rainbow," the pig said "What! But being rainbow would be so cool and fun I would want to hang out with you every day!" said the squirrel. "Really?" the pig said as he stood up from underneath the tree. The squirrel replies "Yes really! You seem like such a cool pig, We should hang out sometime,"
"What's your name?" said the pig.
"My name is Eliza," the squirrel said.

THE MUDDY PIGGY

BY: ANDREW CONVERSE FOR: MACEY

On a rainy day, the pig was playing around in the mud.

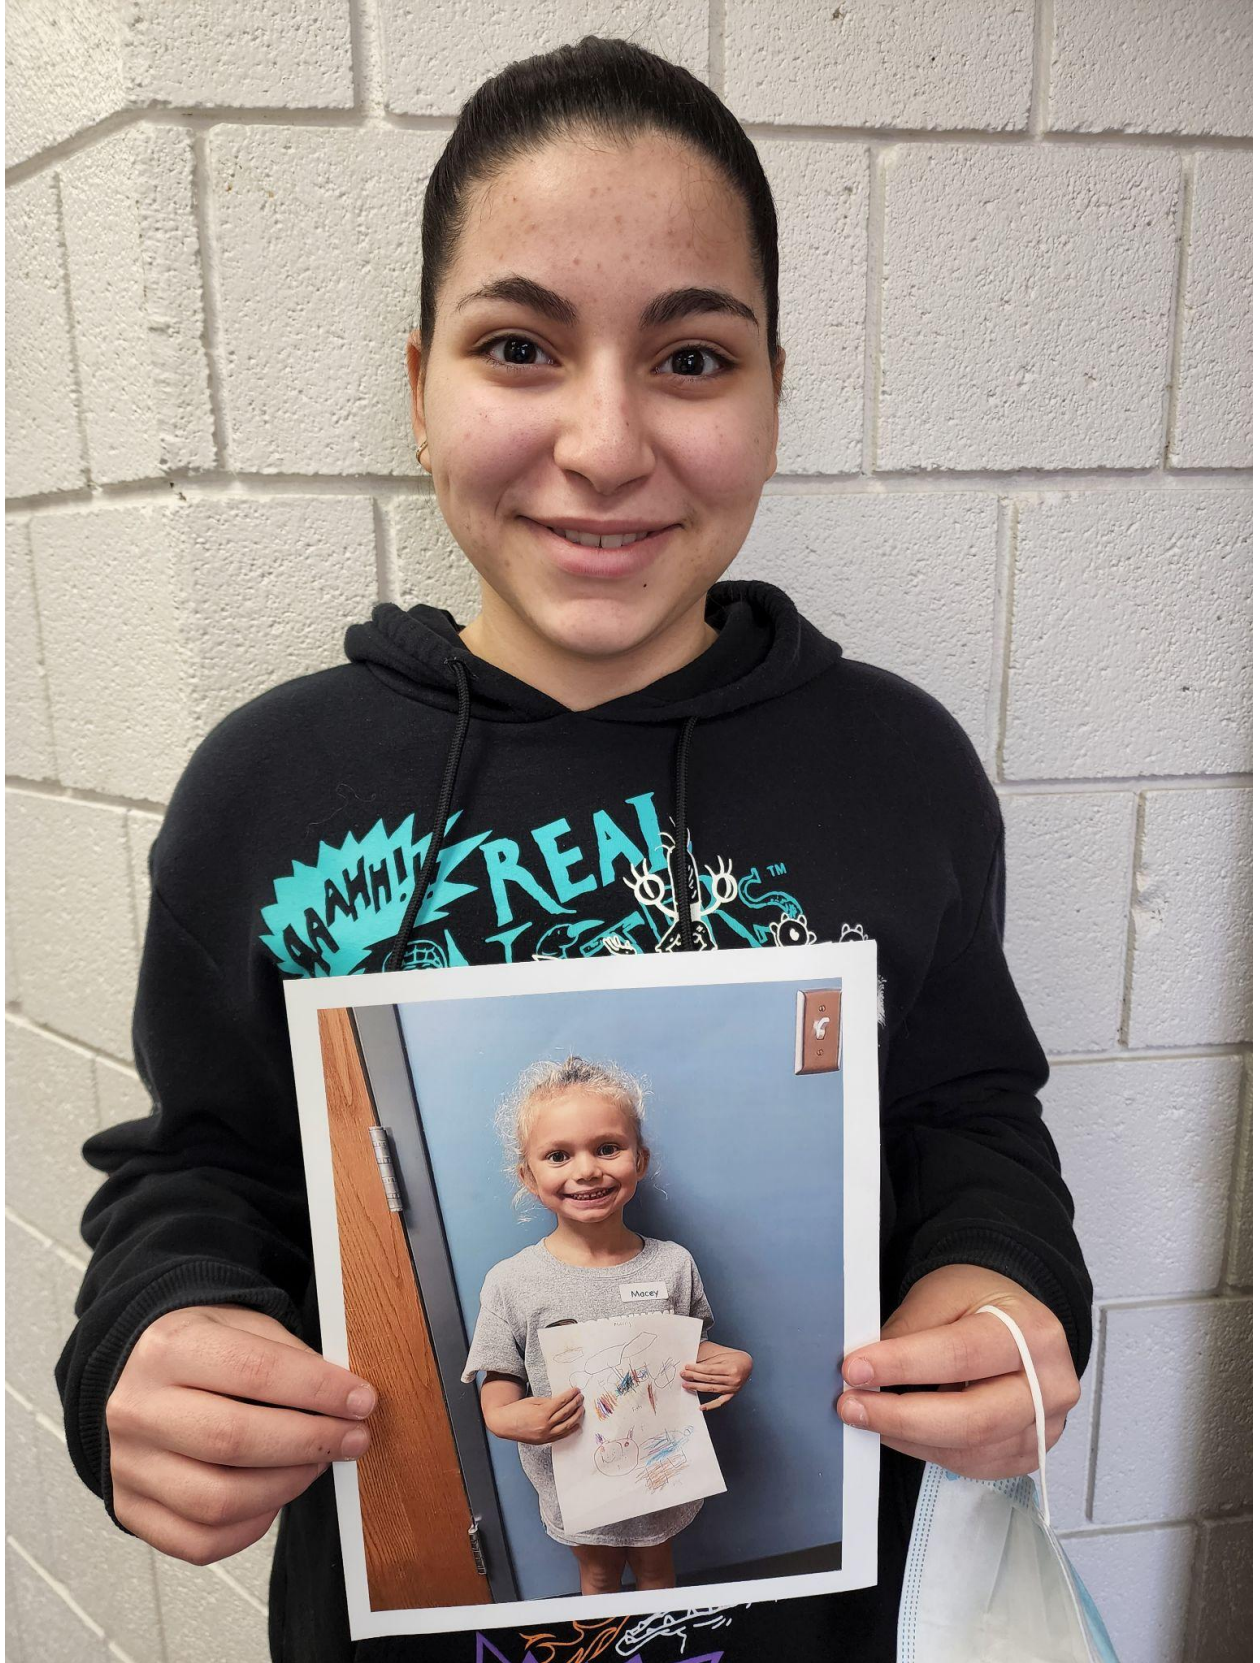

Then the sun came out and the rain stopped. The pig's mom called for her to come inside.

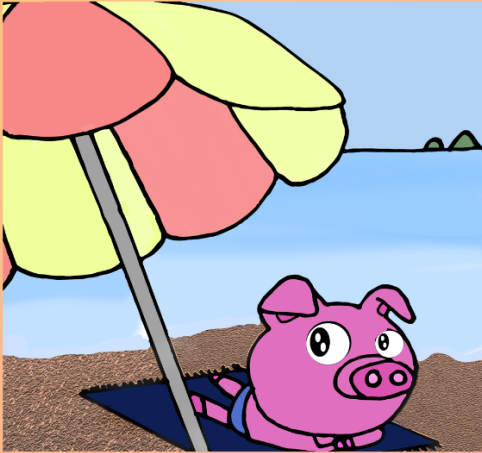

The pig needed to clean off. The fish says to the pig, "come clean off in the pond." So she got in the pond to clean off.

The pig says to the fish, "Thank you, Fish!" Then the piggy went inside. FIN

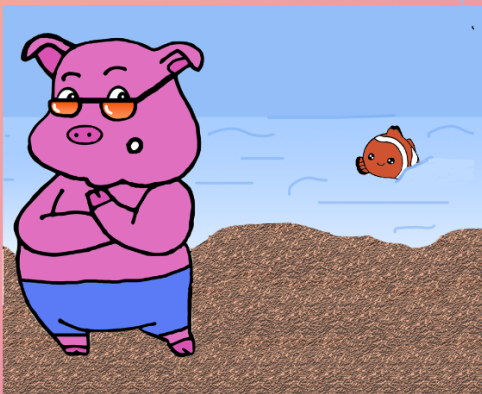

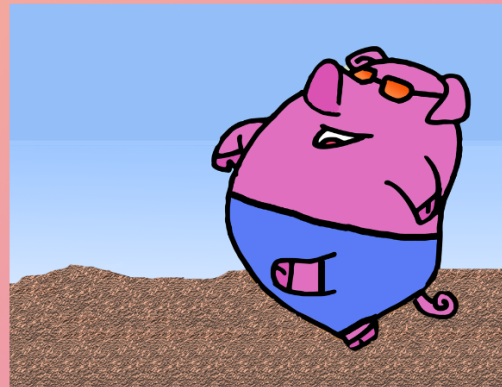

Pig on the Beach

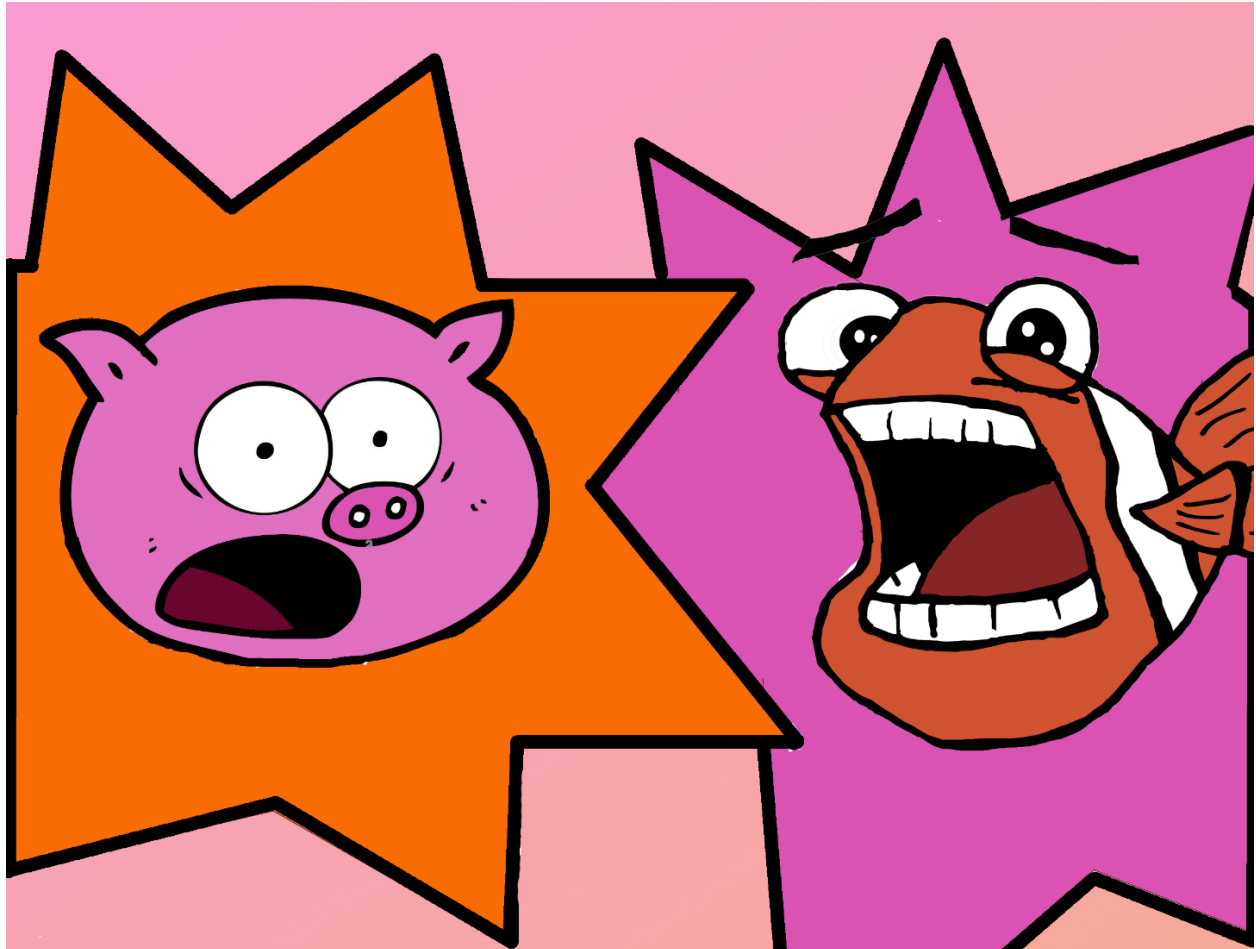

One Sunday morning, pig Jane was sunbathing on the beach. but whenever he went down to the beach, he wanted to swim but he didn't know how to swim.

Pig Jane, went for a walk by the sea because he couldn't swim.

While Pig Jane was walking by the seaside, he heard a sound from the sea. but he didn't understand what happened.

When Pig Jane saw that it was a fish, she was frightened and screamed. When the fish saw Pig Jane screaming, it was frightened and screamed.

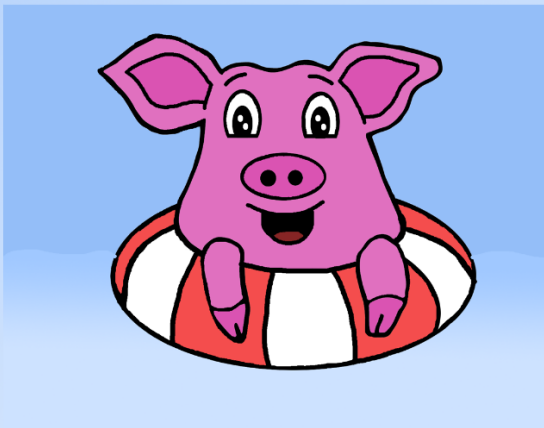

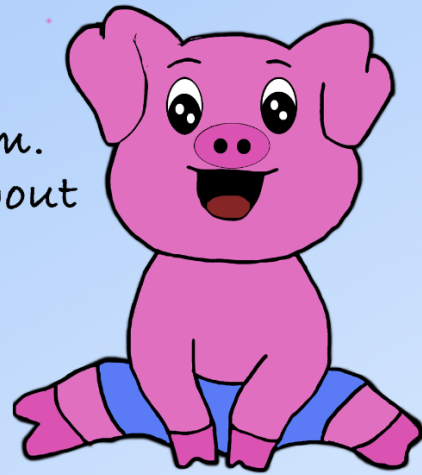

fish was mad at Pig Jane. He asked why he was shouting, his name, why he was here.

Pig Jane answered questions promptly. "My name is Jane. I wanted to swim, but I don't know swim, so I was wandering around by the sea."

Then the fish said that he could teach Pig Jane to swim. Pig Jane was very happy about this situation.

Then Pig Jane started learning to swim slowly.

IAK THE PANDA

By: Grace Wu

Dedicated to Kai

One warm, sunny afternoon, Iak the Panda was eating a bamboo sandwich when he suddenly smelled smoke.

He looked around and realized his house was on fire!

He grabbed his bamboo sandwich and ran out of his burning house as fast as he could.

Iak started pouring buckets of water on his house to put out the fire.

But it was no use.
Iak's house was destroyed.

Saddened, Iak walked to his friend's house.

When he got there,
he told his friend
what had happened.

His friend offered to help him build a new house.

So, with the help of his friend, Iak built a new, fire-proof house.

Sally and The Wish Giving Fish

Sally was a fish who wanted to swim through the sky.
But Sally ,she couldnt fly.
So Sally left her home and goodbye she said.
She told all her friends they would see her once more.

Sally began to travel in search of a wish giving fish.
For Sally wanted to fly and she could only do that with a wish.
She asked all around but none knew a thing.
For they all belived there wasnt such thing.

Sally knew there was one she,wouldnt give up.
But no matter how hard she searched she never found one.
"Maybe it wasnt meant to be" she said.
And so Sally decided to pick up her search on the next day.

As sally slept shedreamt of the sky,and being able to fly
And she floated up out of the sea
Sally woke up and looked around the sky.
"Im flying, Im flying, I Really am!" Sally shouted with glee.
Sally swam through the sky and greeted the birds for her wish had come

ARLOS PARTY

BY CARISSA ANDORF

THIS BIRTHDAY PARTY IS SO AWESOME!

HEY, WHERE'S ARLO?

Bloppy, Bear, & Catfish were having so much fun at Arlo's birthday party. Then, they realized that they haven't seen Arlo for a while. "Hey, where's Arlo?!" asked the cat fish. They were looking all over the place for him.

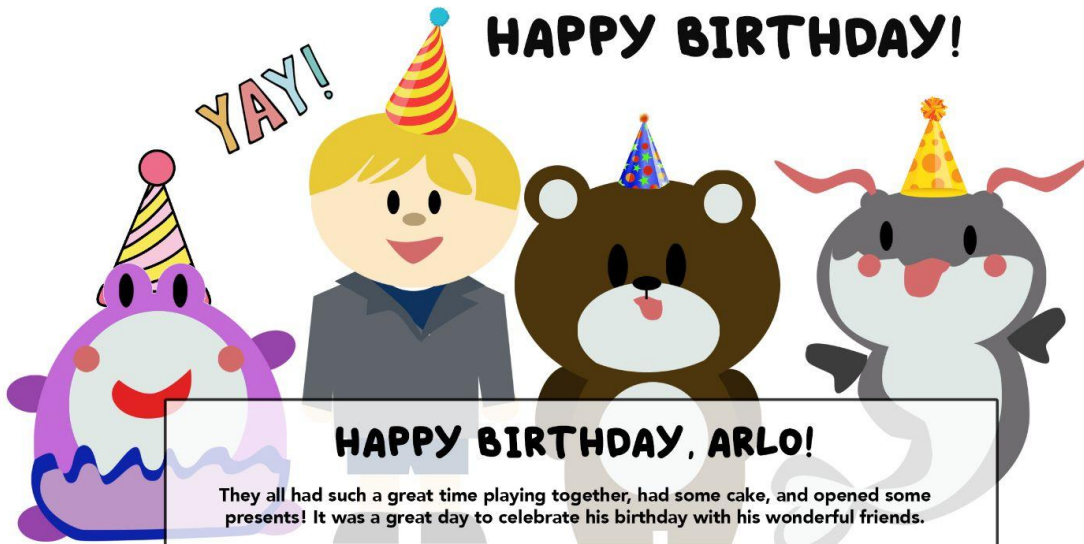

ARLO!

WERE SO HAPPY TO SEE YOU!

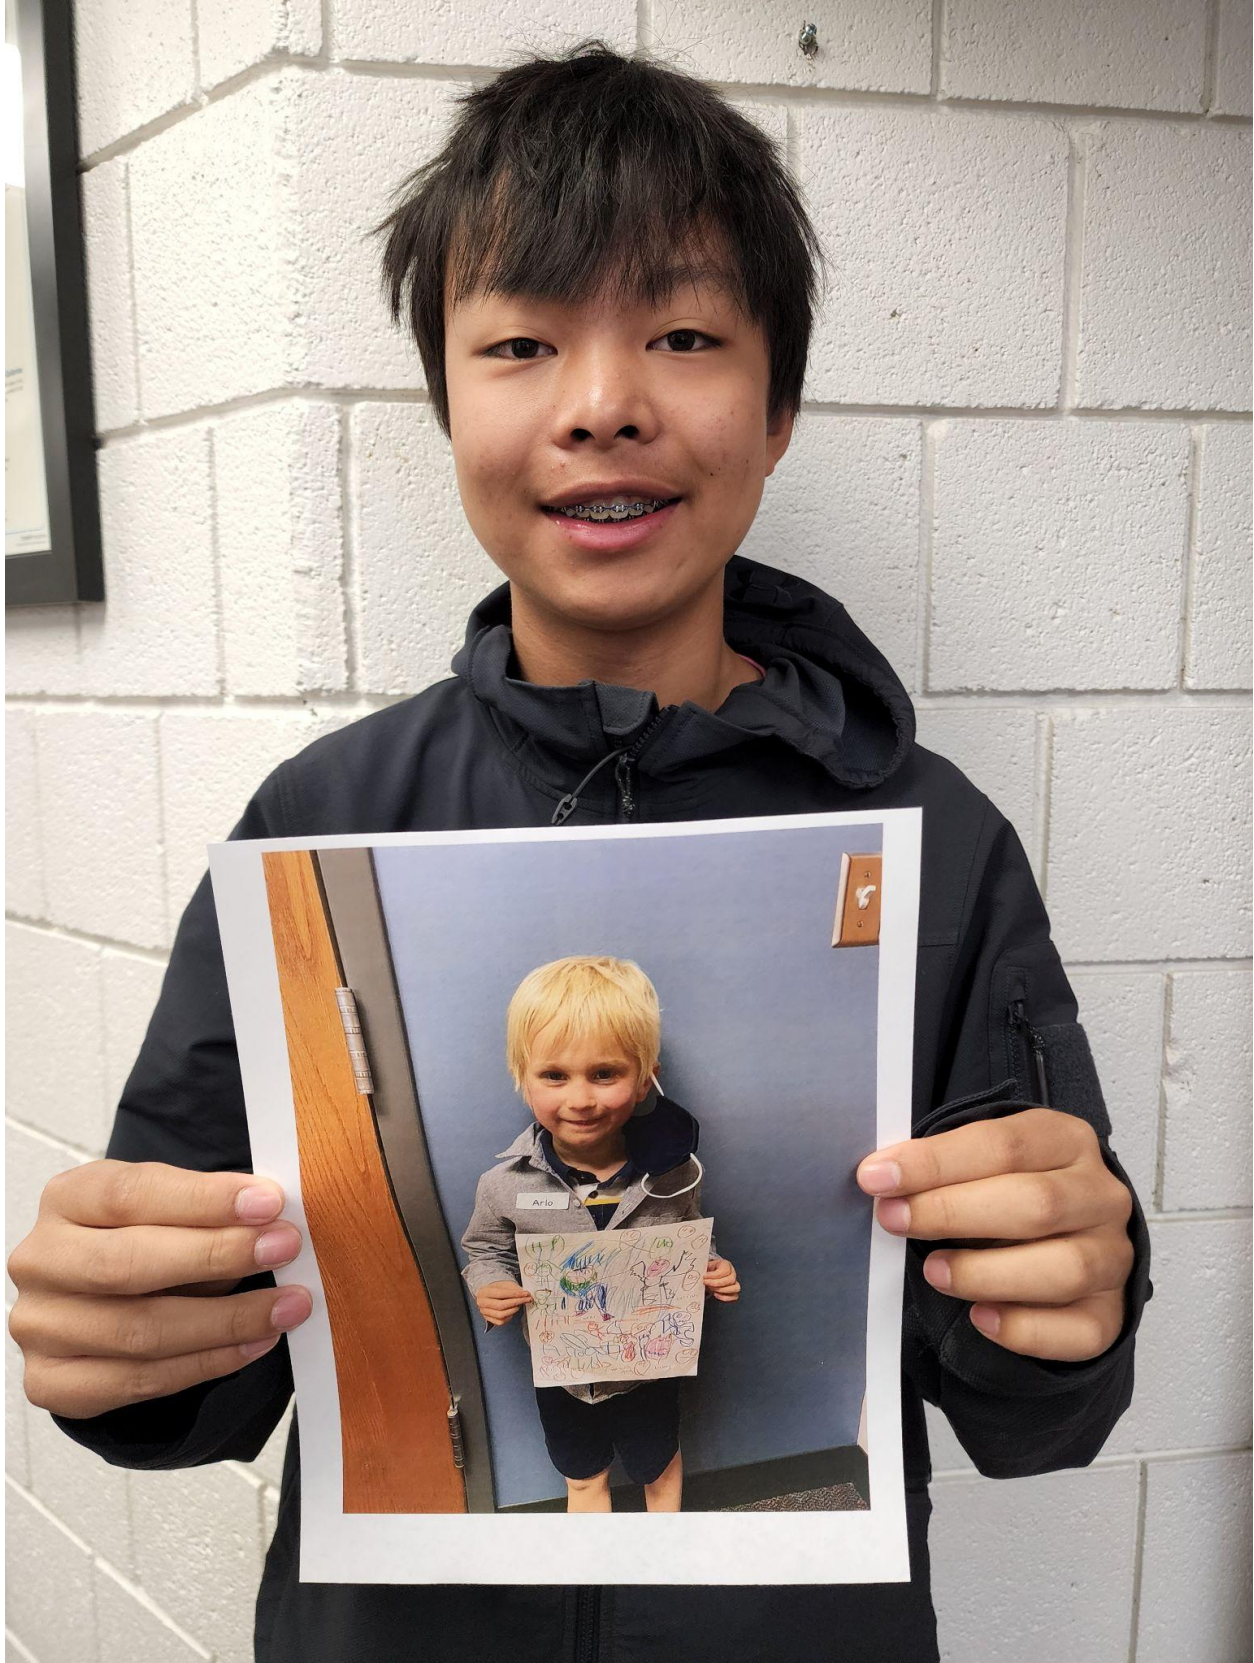

After looking everywhere, they finally found the birthday boy. Bloppy, Bear, & Catfish were so excited to finally find Arlo, so they all could play together.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, ARLO!

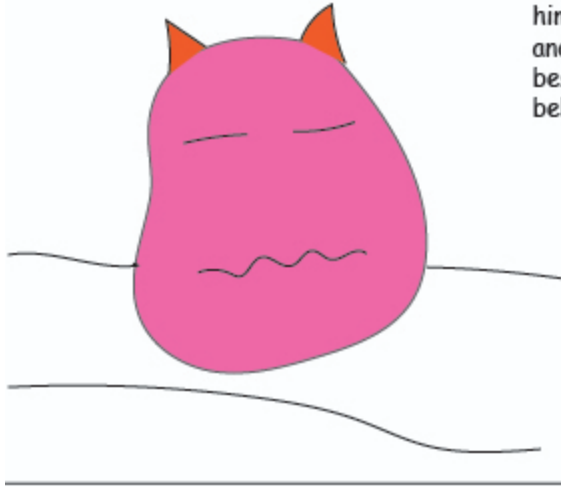

They all had such a great time playing together, had some cake, and opened some presents! It was a great day to celebrate his birthday with his wonderful friends.

Bobby Didn't Eat His Vegetables!

By. Joshua Wo and Arlo

One day, Bobby was walking down the road all by himself. Bobby was very happy, as he had just studied hard and scored well on a test! He also just hung out with his best friend, Arlo. He listened to his parents very well and behaved good in school. However, he didn't eat his vegetables!

Suddenly, Bobby didn't feel very good! He threw up all over the ground and started twitching rapidly. He almost collapsed on the ground and was feeling light headed!

Bobby's parents gave him some broccoli and Bobby felt WAYYY better! Bobby now learned a valuable lesson.... Always eat your vegetables.

The Wolf Hunt

By: Jenna, Jayden and Levi

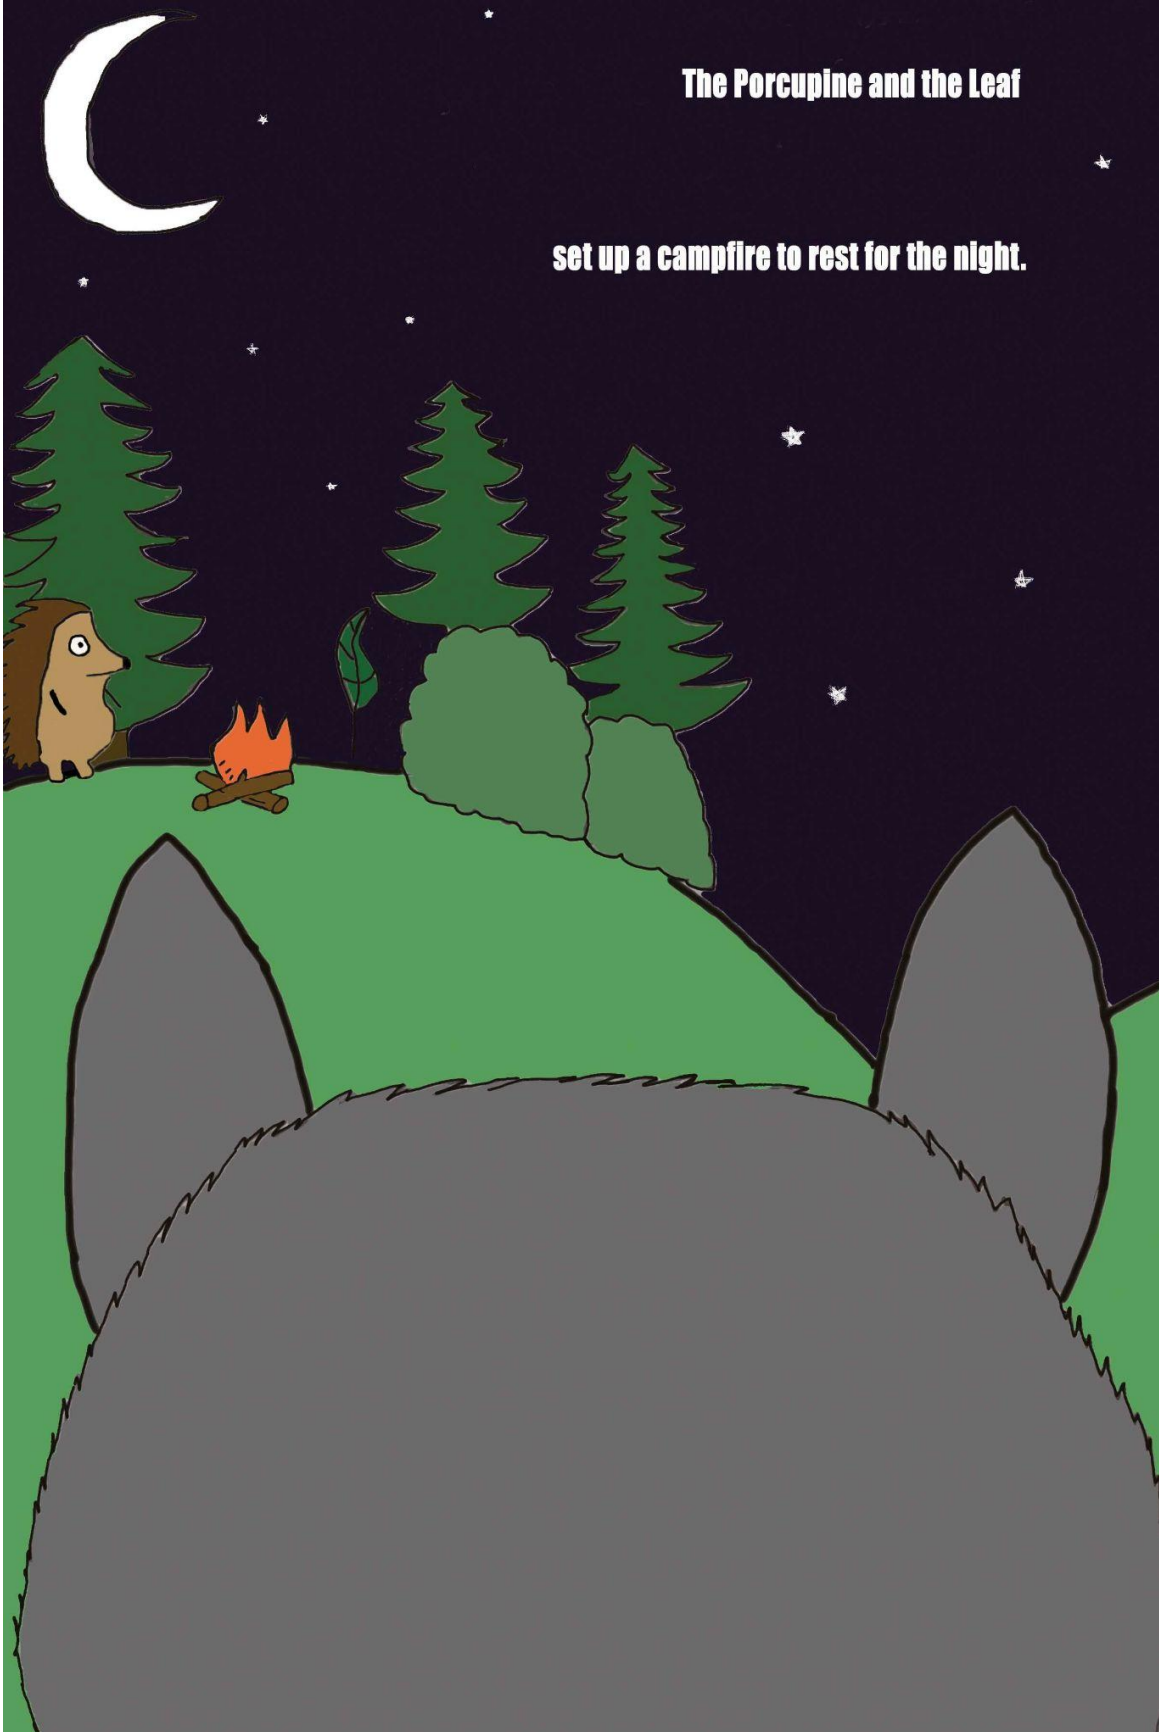

The Wolf watches as the Leaf and Porcupine come to shore.

The Wolf is hungry and is looking for a snack.

The Porcupine and the Leaf set up a campfire to rest for the night.

The Wolf attacks! Both the Leaf and Porcupine are in total shock.

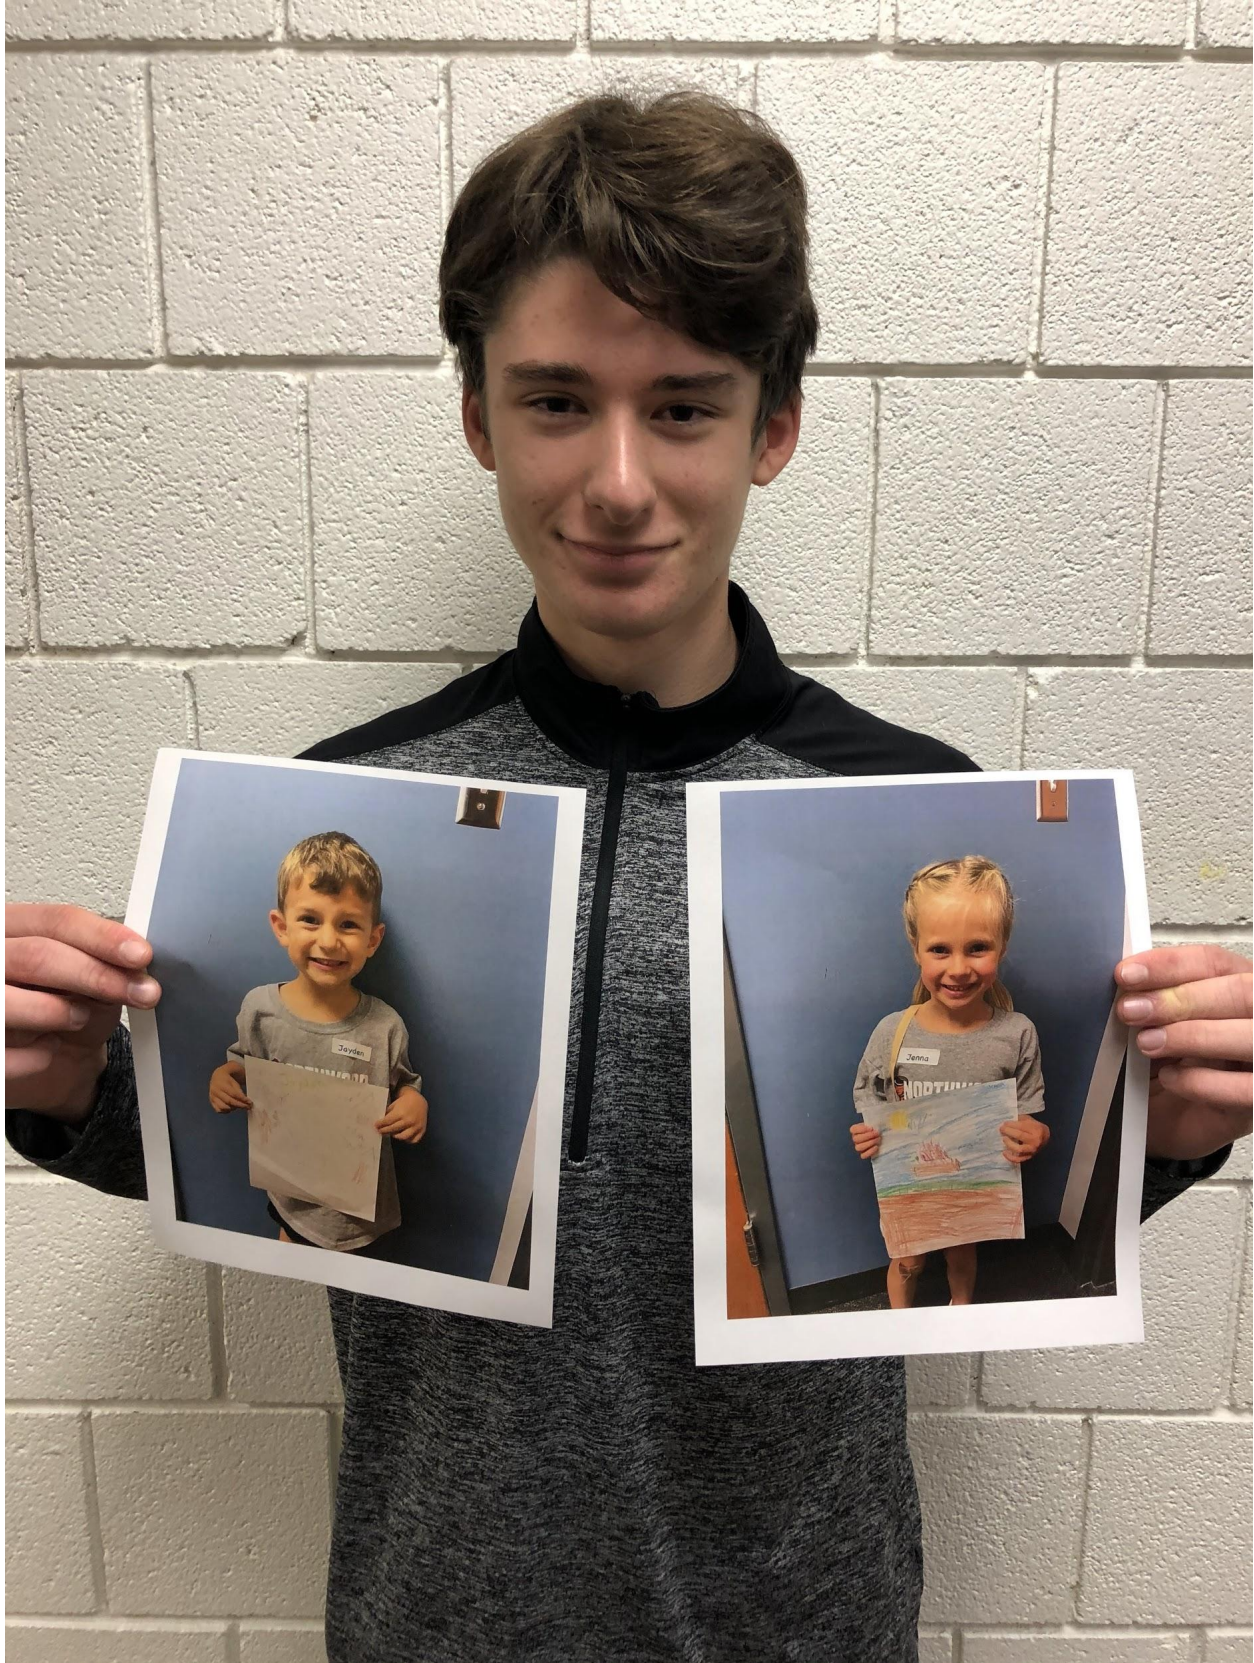

The Porcupine jumped quickly into action to save the Leaf.

The Porcupine did it! He defeated the Wolf and saved the Leaf!

THE PANDA BOOK

One day a panda was happily driving home.

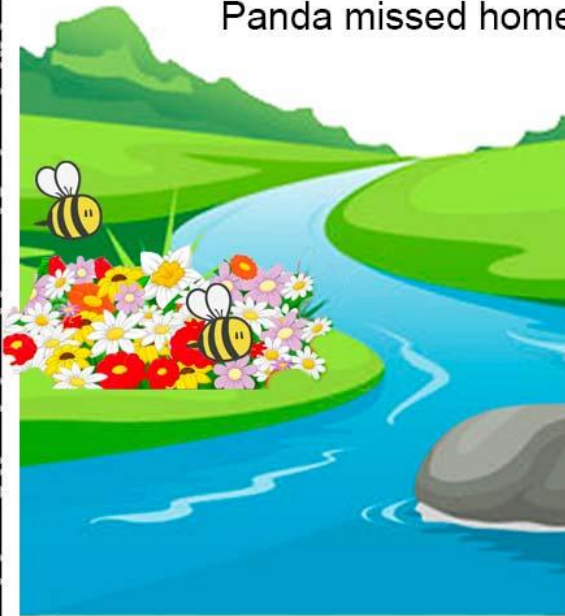

Panda saw many sights and heard many sounds on his way home.

But none were the sounds of panda's home that he longed to hear, the gulp gulp gulp of the river by panda's home.

The buzzzzzzzz of bees that flew around panda's garden.

Panda missed home.

Wait a minute! Panda heard something. It was the gulp gulp gulp of the river by panda's home. The buzzzzzzzz of bees that flew around panda's garden. Panda was home.

Panda was happy!

Flora

the independent bunny

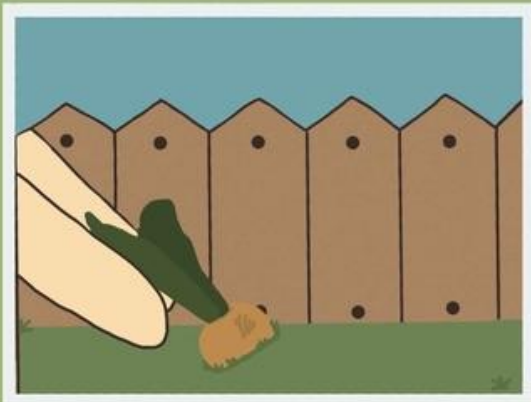

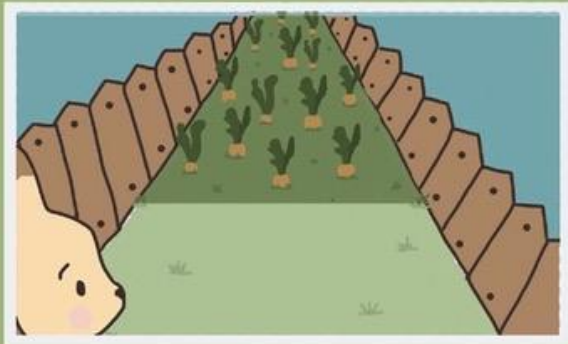

Dedicated to: Dora

Flora was an independent little bunny.
She used to wake up on her own
And leave to school early.

Her mom always asked her
“Hunny, do you need help?”
But Flora would always answer:
“No mama, I can do it myself!”

So one day Flora was hungry,
And there was nothing to eat.
So she went to the backyard
And looked for something sweet.

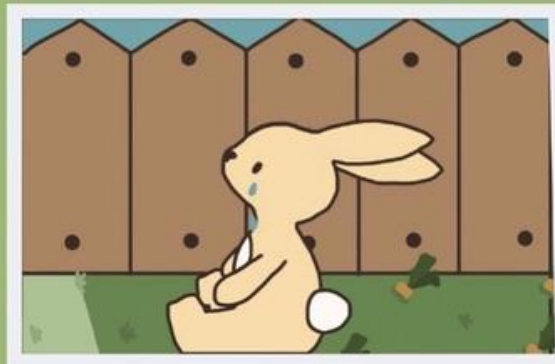

She looked and looked
But there was nothing but carrots
She was so hungry
She decided to grab one

She pulled as strong as she could
But the carrot didn't even move
She tried again but she couldn't do it by herself
Then she stumbled and tripped over the grass

Her mom came running
After she heard the sound
She looked around
And saw Flora crying on the ground

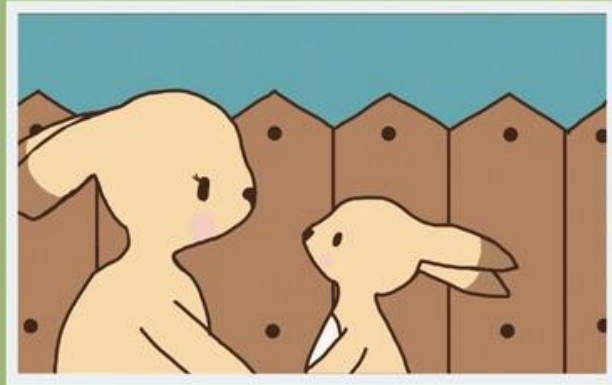

Flora's mom asked:
"Baby, what happened?"
"I thought I could do it myself,
I just wanted some carrots."

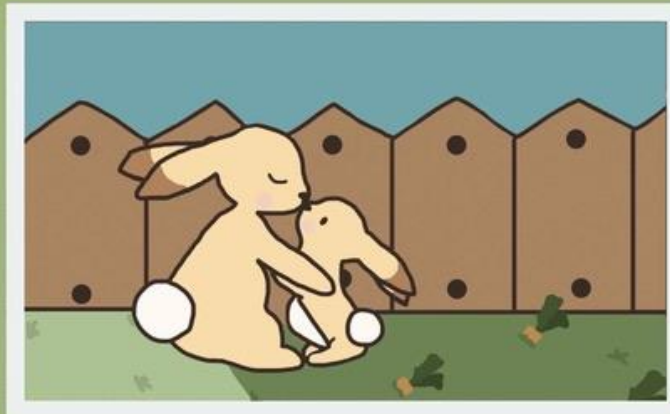

“Why didn’t you ask mommy?
I would’ve come right away”

“I didn’t want to bother,
And I didn’t want to wait.”

“Sweetie, I’m your mummy,
I would do anything for you.
If you ever need help,
Just tell me and I’ll come to the rescue”

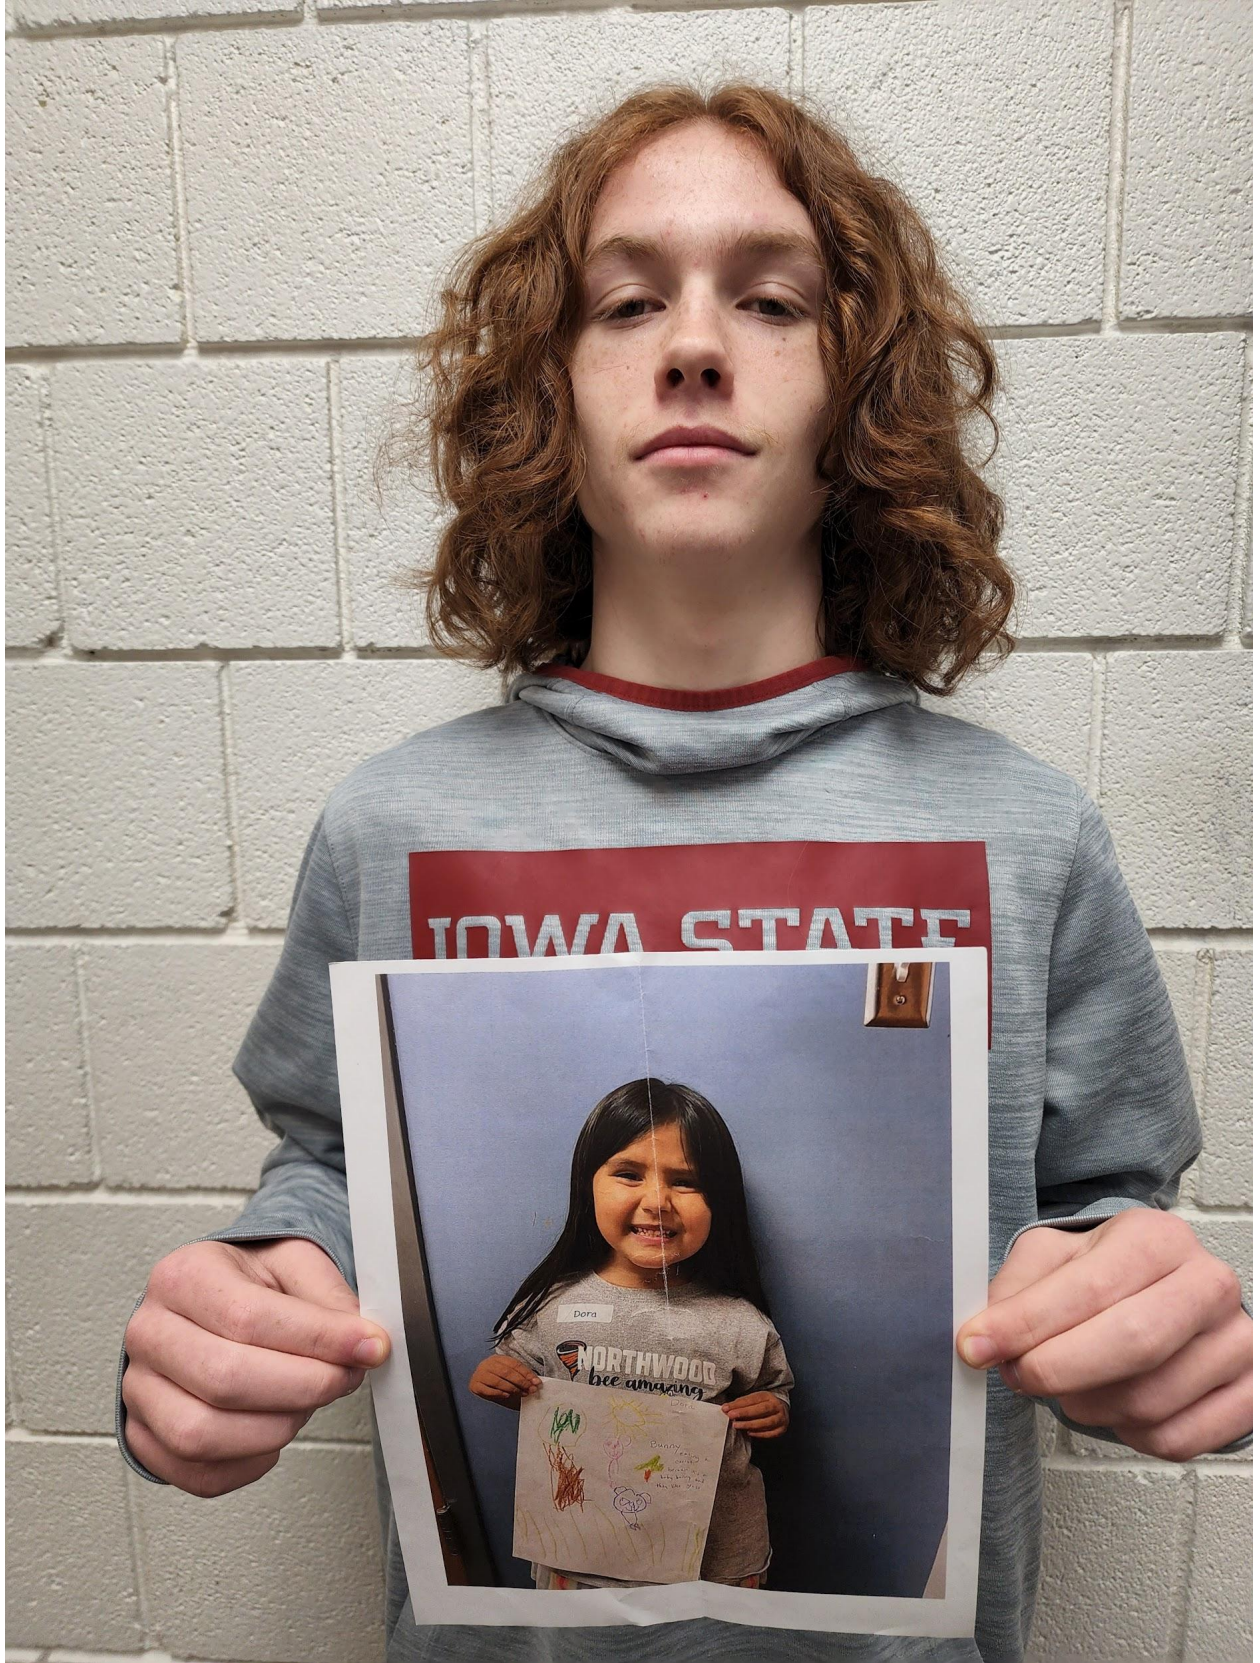

“But I want to be strong,
And independent, and smart.”
“Hunny, even superheroes ask for help.
No matter how strong,
No matter how smart,
You’ll always need others to help you go far.”

“And mommy is here,
And daddy is too,
We’ll be happy to help
Because we love you!”

The Very Scary Bear

By Avyay
Dedicated to Sylar

Once upon a time, there was a black bear who lived in a forest. All the other animals in the forest were very scared of her. Whenever the bear came near them, they ran away. This made her very sad and lonely.

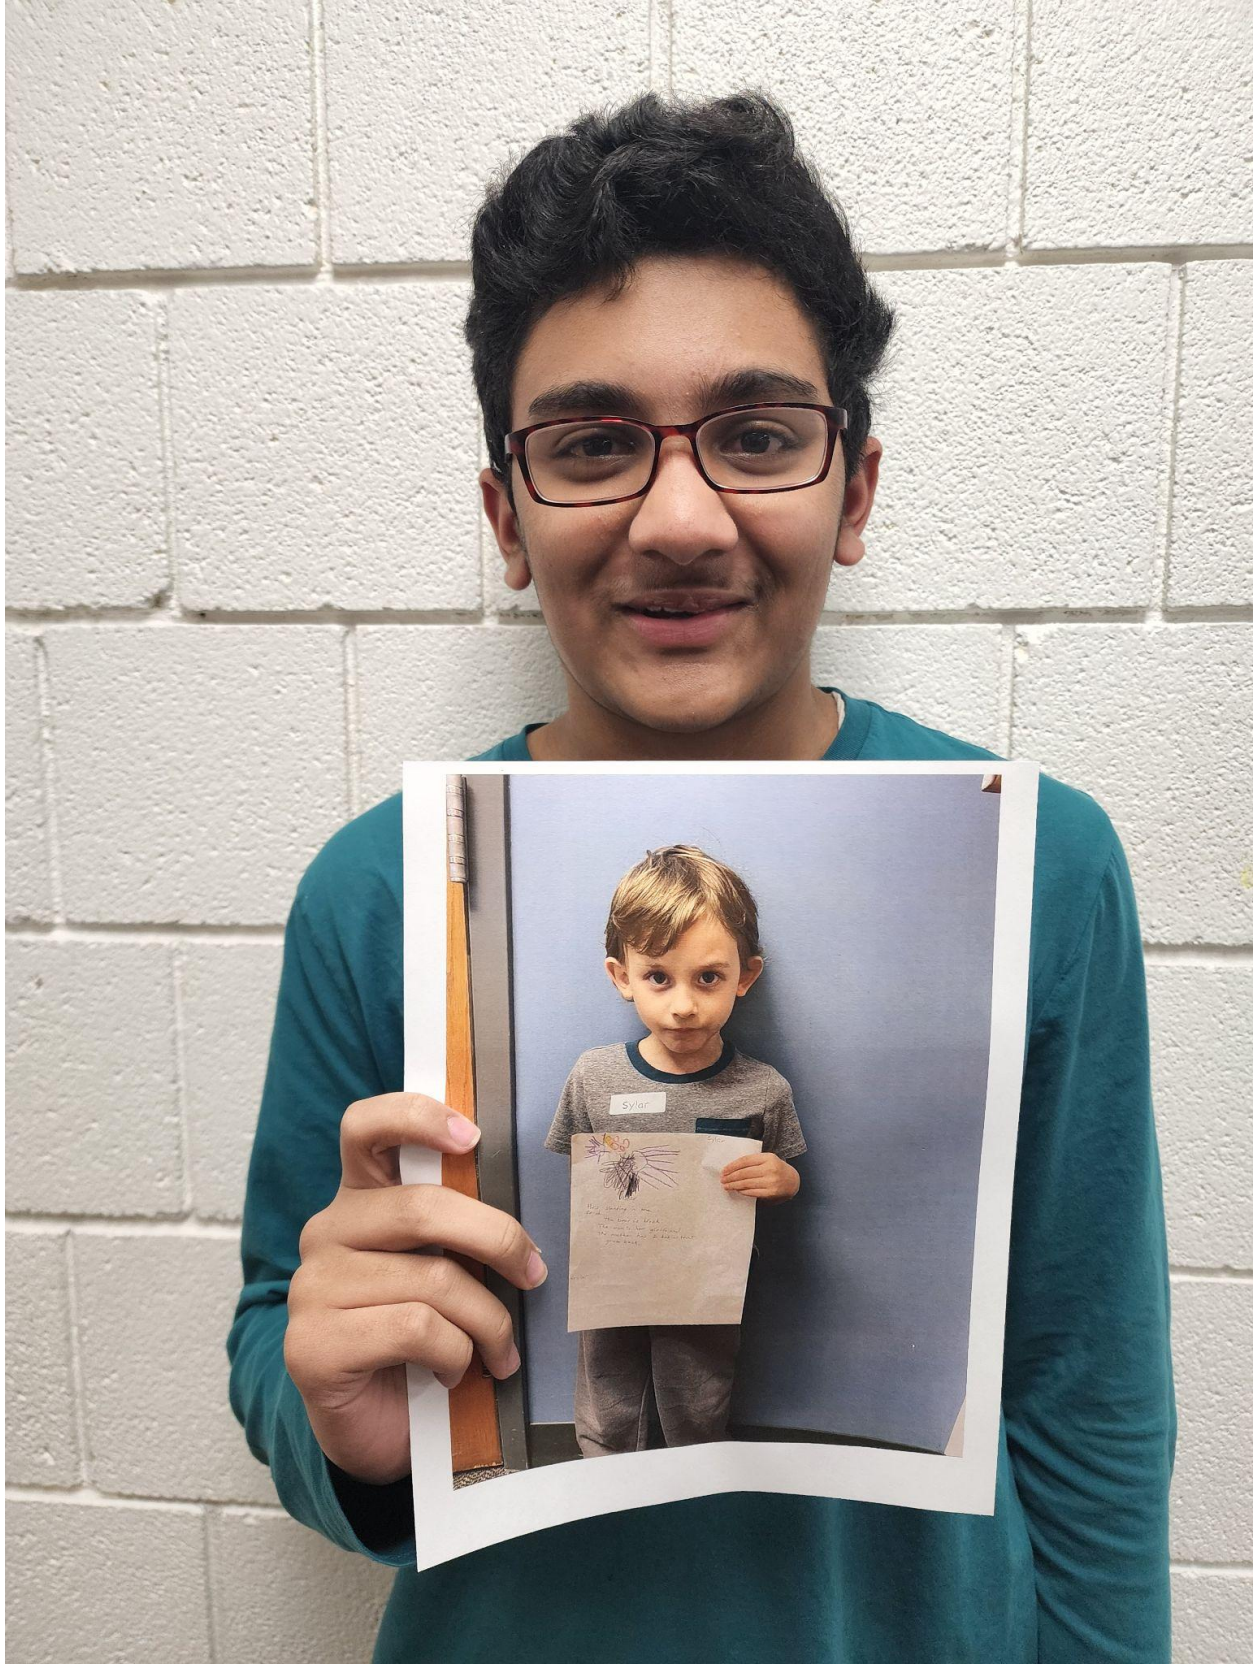

One day, the bear was standing on the sand of a beach, looking around. A crab came out of the water and was startled when he saw the bear. At first, he was scared, but he built up the courage to talk with the bear. "Hey bear!" asked the crab. "What are you looking for?"

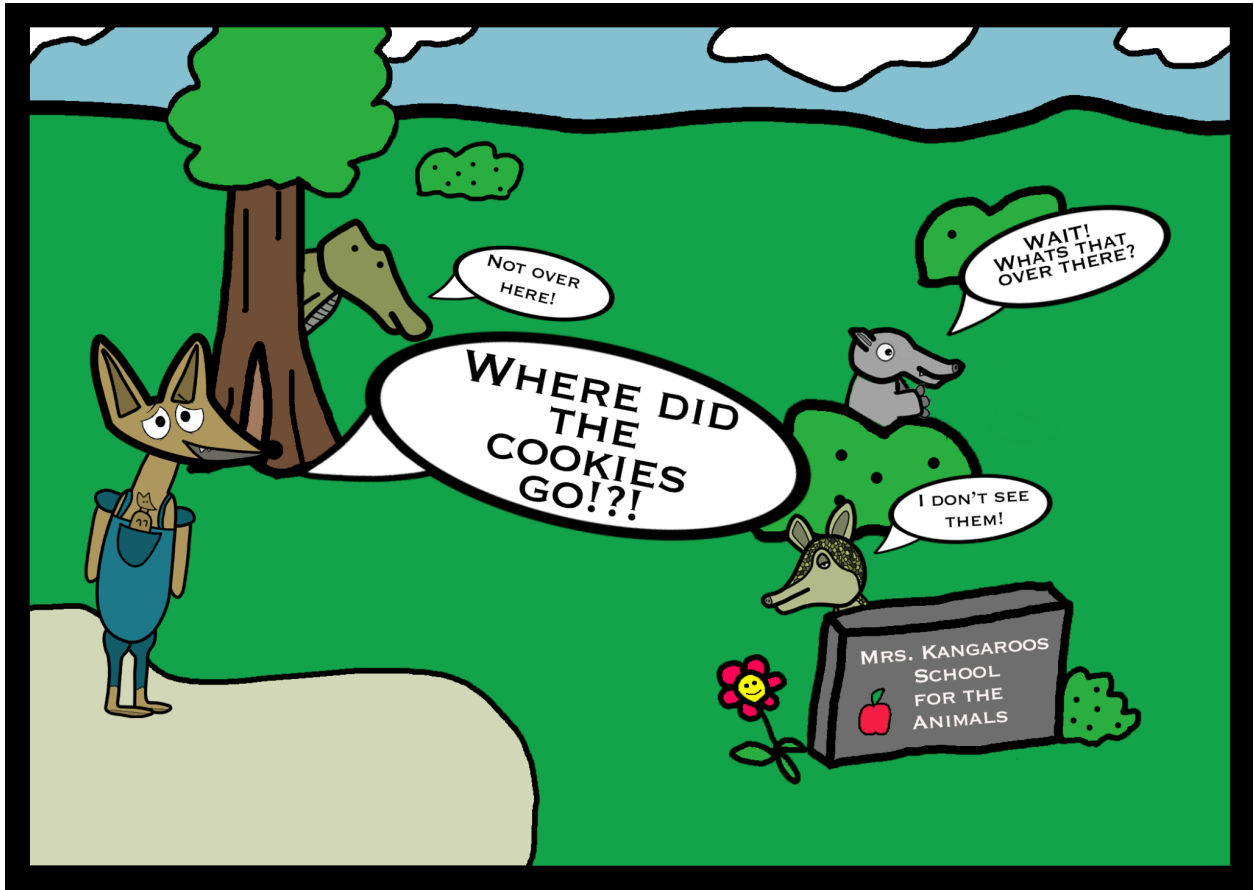

At first, the bear was scared of the crab. Then, the bear replied sadly, "I need to collect food for my two cubs, who are hungry." Without saying anything, the crab crawled right back into the water. The bear was even more upset, as she thought she had frightened the crab.

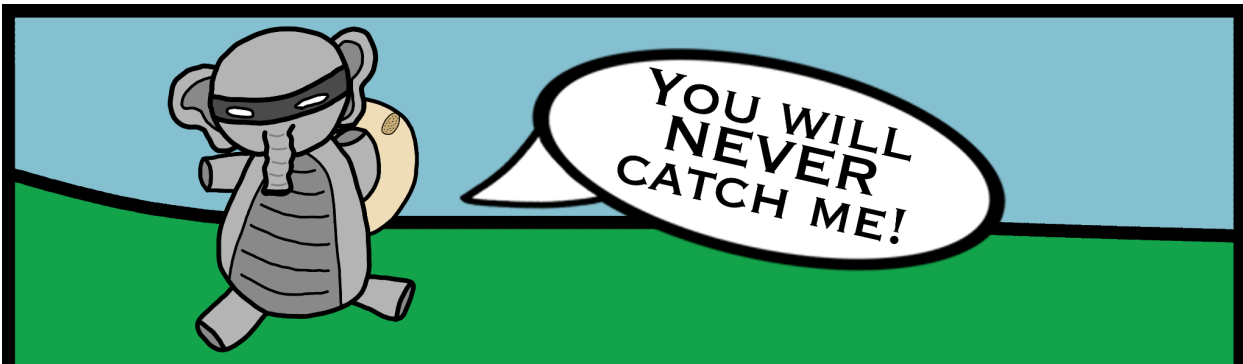

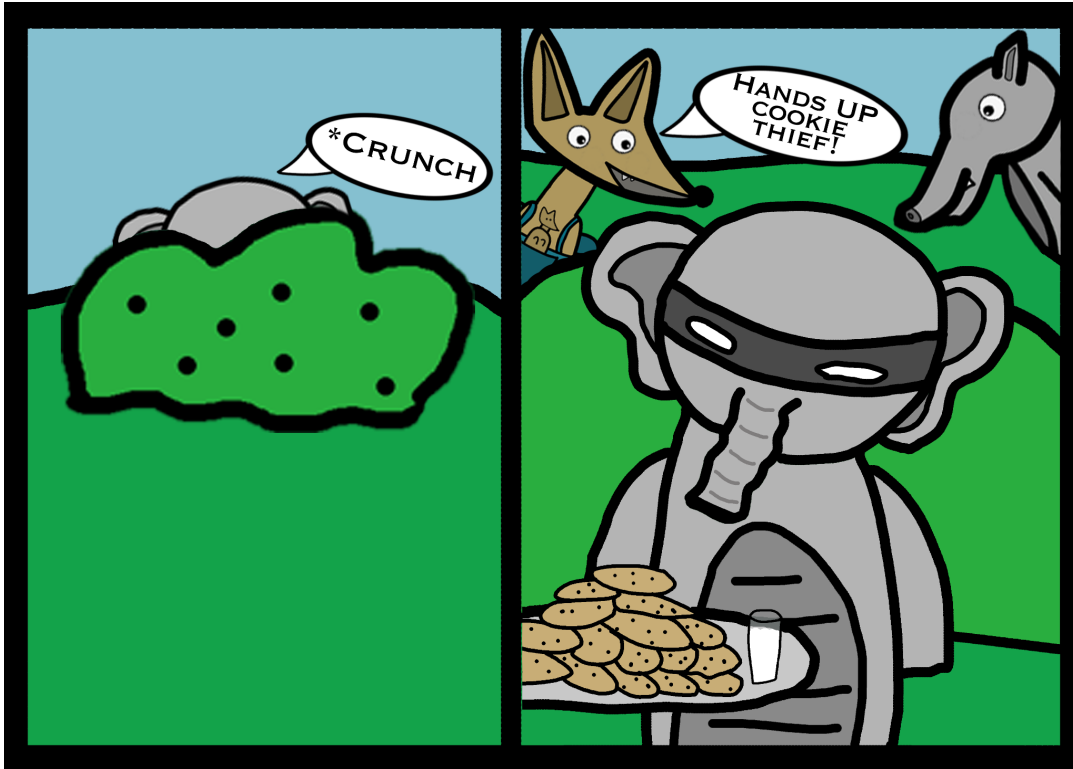

Suddenly, the crab returned with armfuls of fish and a big smile on his face. He said to the bear, "You and your cubs definitely need these fish more than I do!" The bear thanked the crab, and the two went their separate ways.

The little mouse and the TALL bear

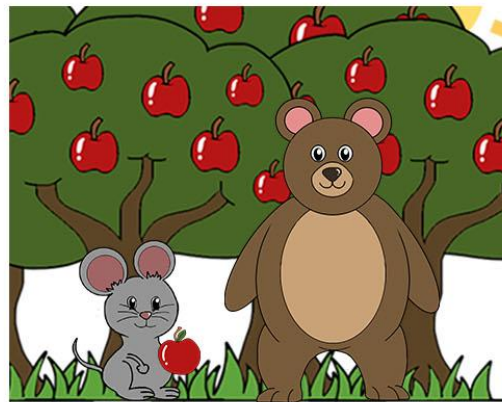

By: Krisha Sta. Maria Dedicated to: Tara

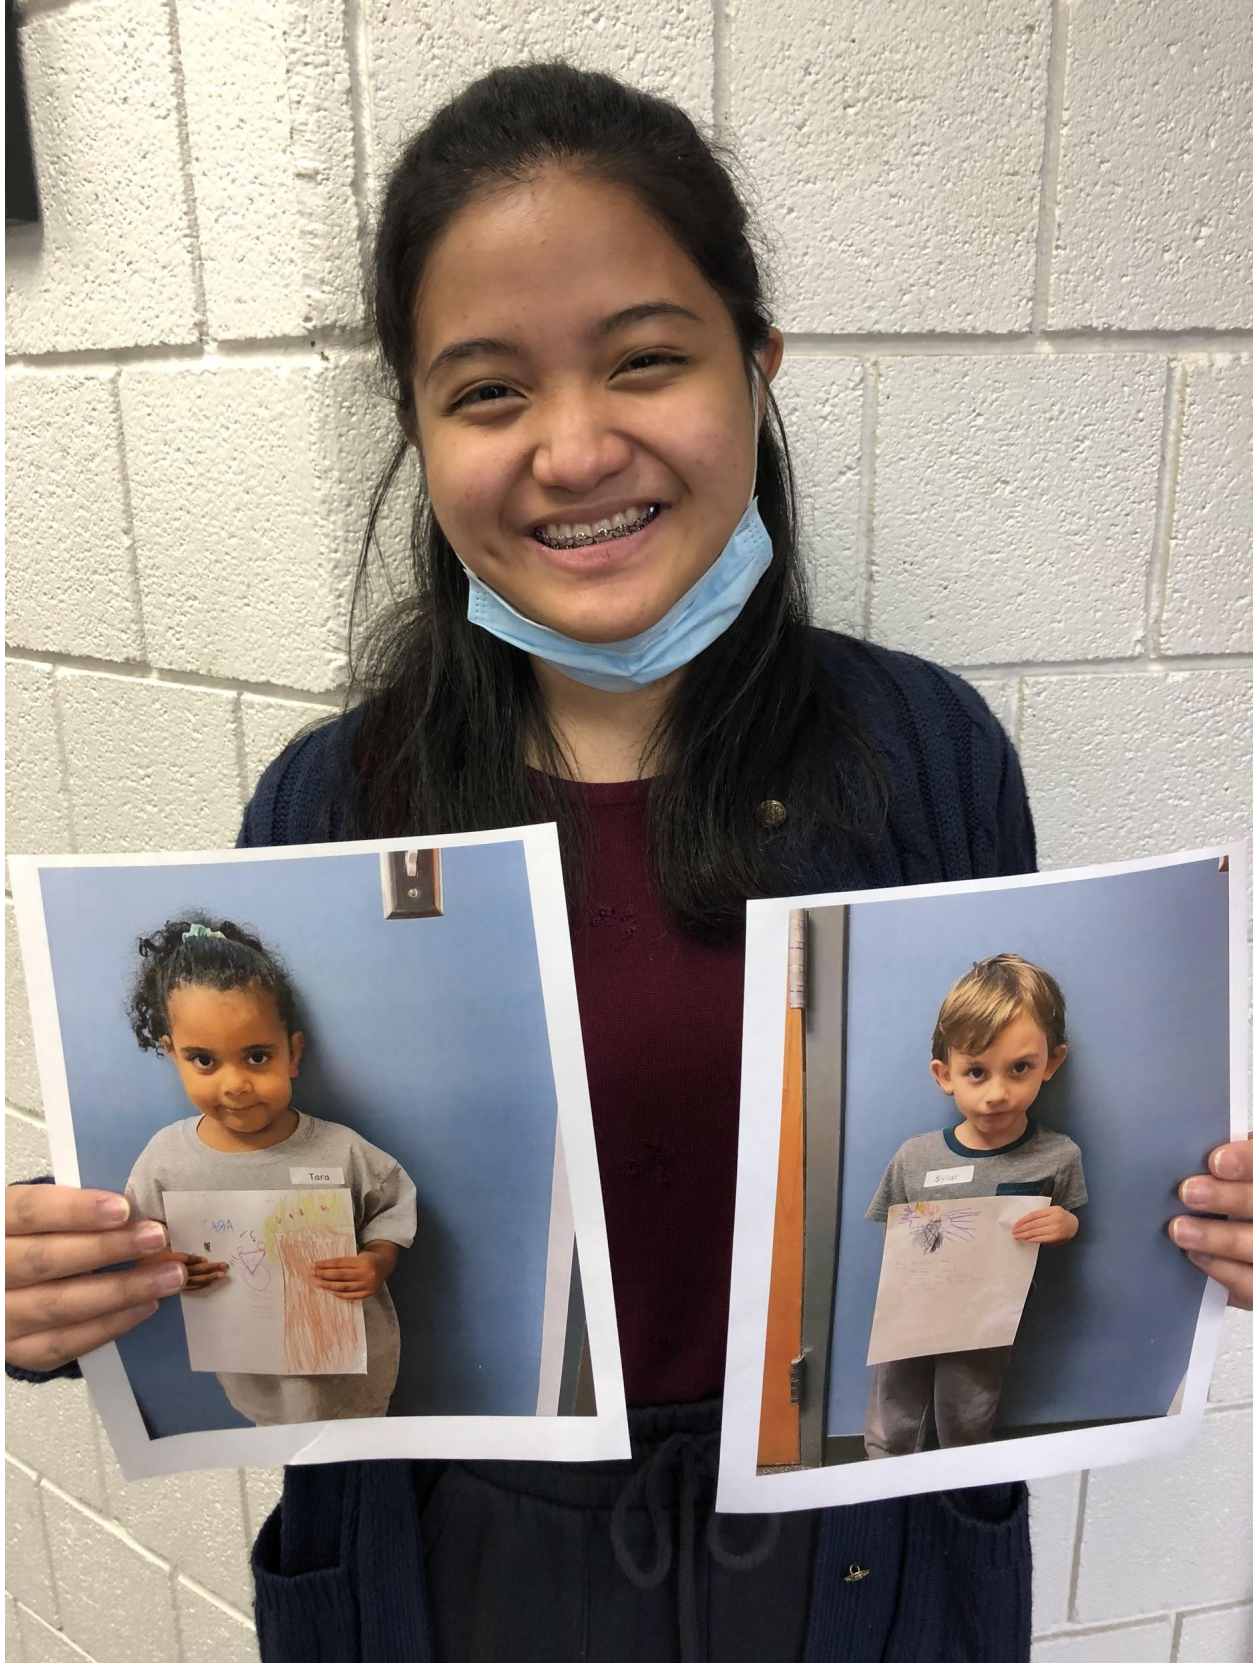

On a cheerful and sunny day,
A little mouse went out for a walk,
Outside it saw beautiful apple trees,
And the apples were big and shiny.

The little mouse wanted to eat an apple,
But it was too small to reach the tree,
Then a tall bear walked by the road,
And picked an apple for the mouse.

The little mouse said, "Thank you!",
And the bear replied, "You're welcome!",
The little mouse ate the apple,
And went home with a big smile.

The Jaguar vs The Bee

By: Anna For: Grady

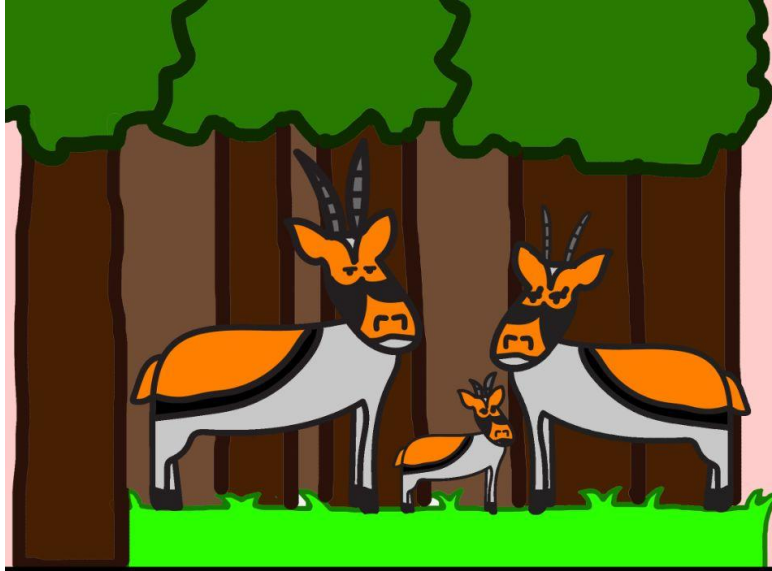

Mr. Jaguar was hiding in the grass from a swarm of bees, as the bees got closer Mr. Jaguar screamed "AHHHHH!" His scream scared the bees and they started to attack attack him!

Mr. Jaguar got stung by the bees, this made him sad and he started to cry.

The bees then flew away, all except for one bee. "I'm sorry" the bee said to Mr. Jaguar. "Your scream scared us, I promise we didn't mean you any harm, do you think you can forgive us?" The bee said. "I understand and I forgive you!" Mr. Jaguar replied. The Jaguar and the bee live happily ever after!

Micah the Gazelle

by Victor Allen

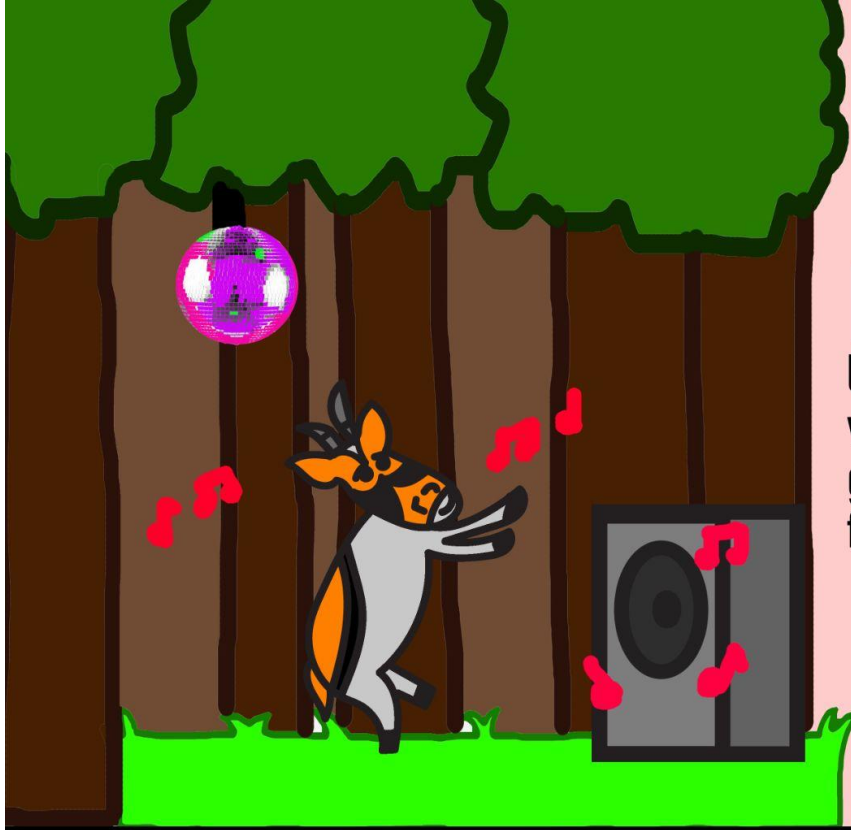

Micah the gazelle lived with his family in the forest. He loved being around his family very much.

But one night, when Micah was old enough, his parents left him at home all by himself while they looked for food. Micah was very sad. He missed his family.

“It will be okay,” Micah told himself. ‘They will be back soon. I will be okay!’”

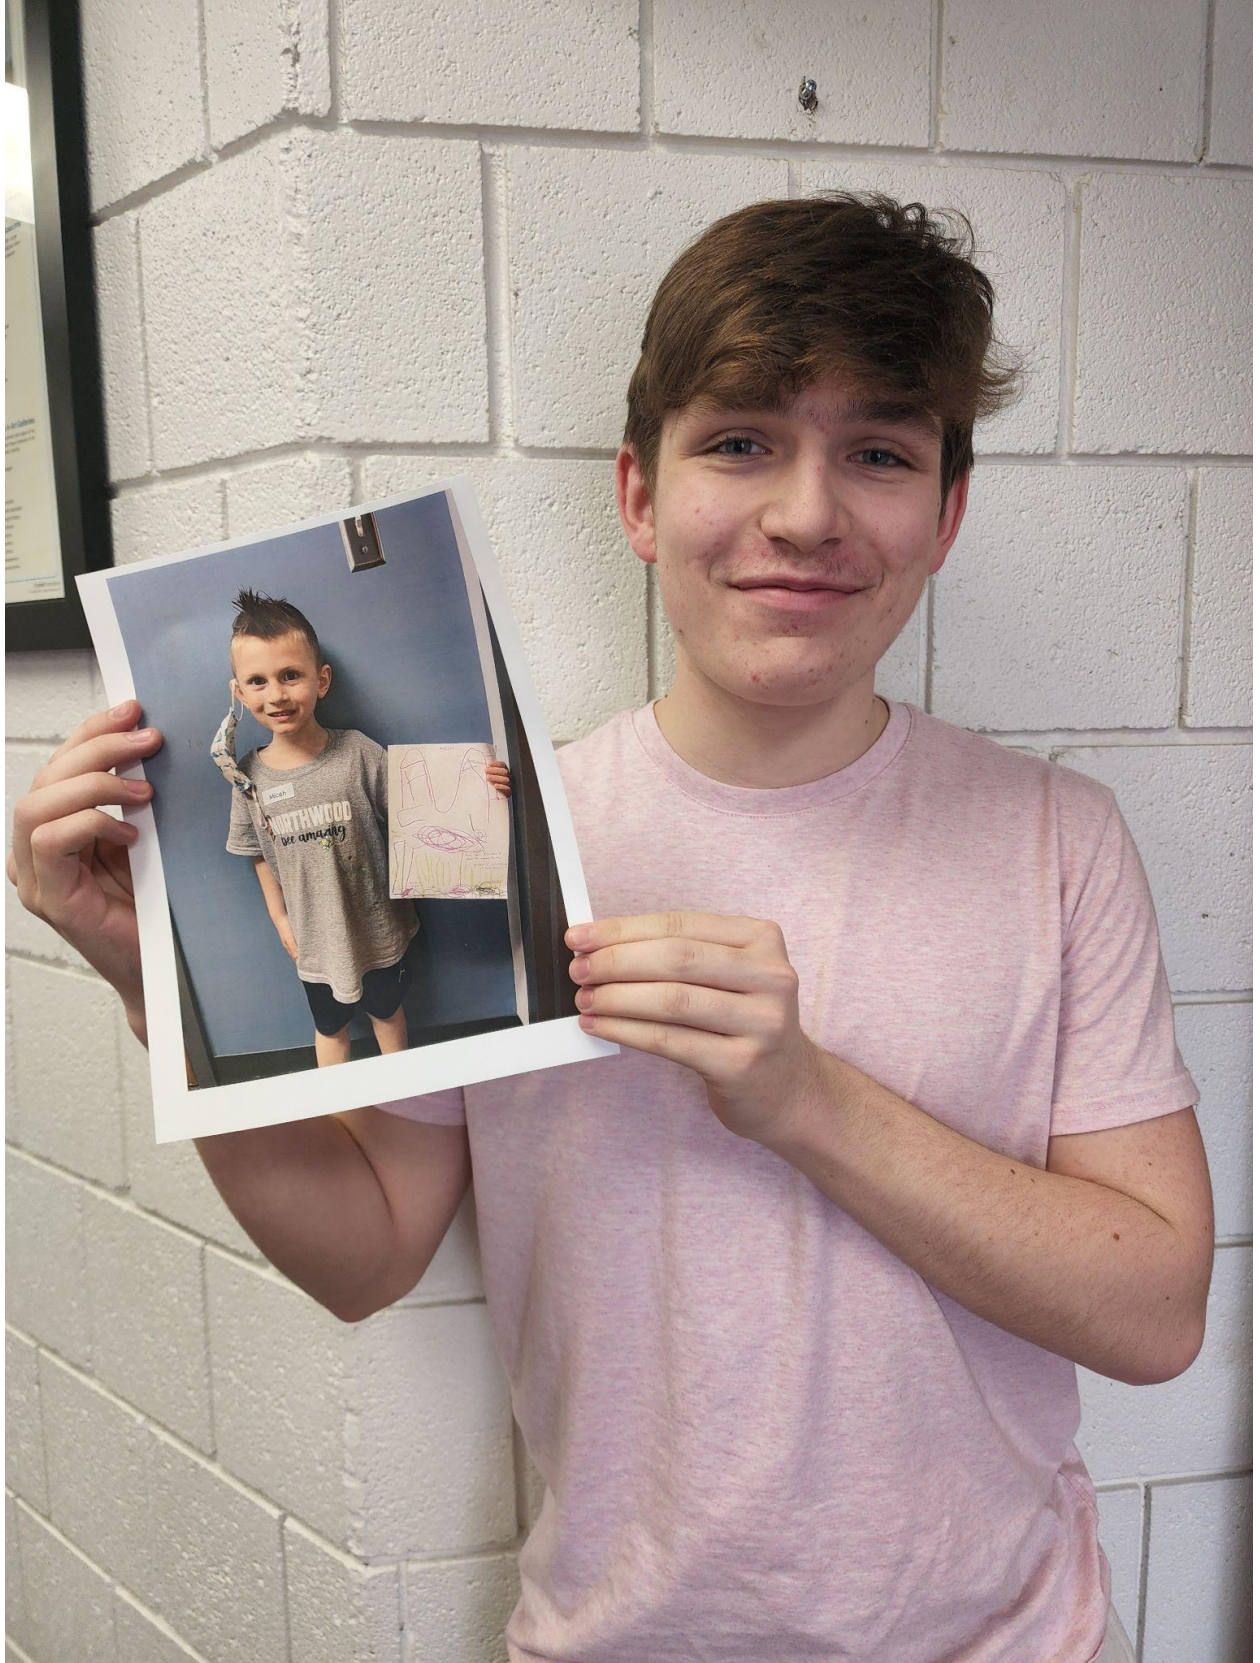

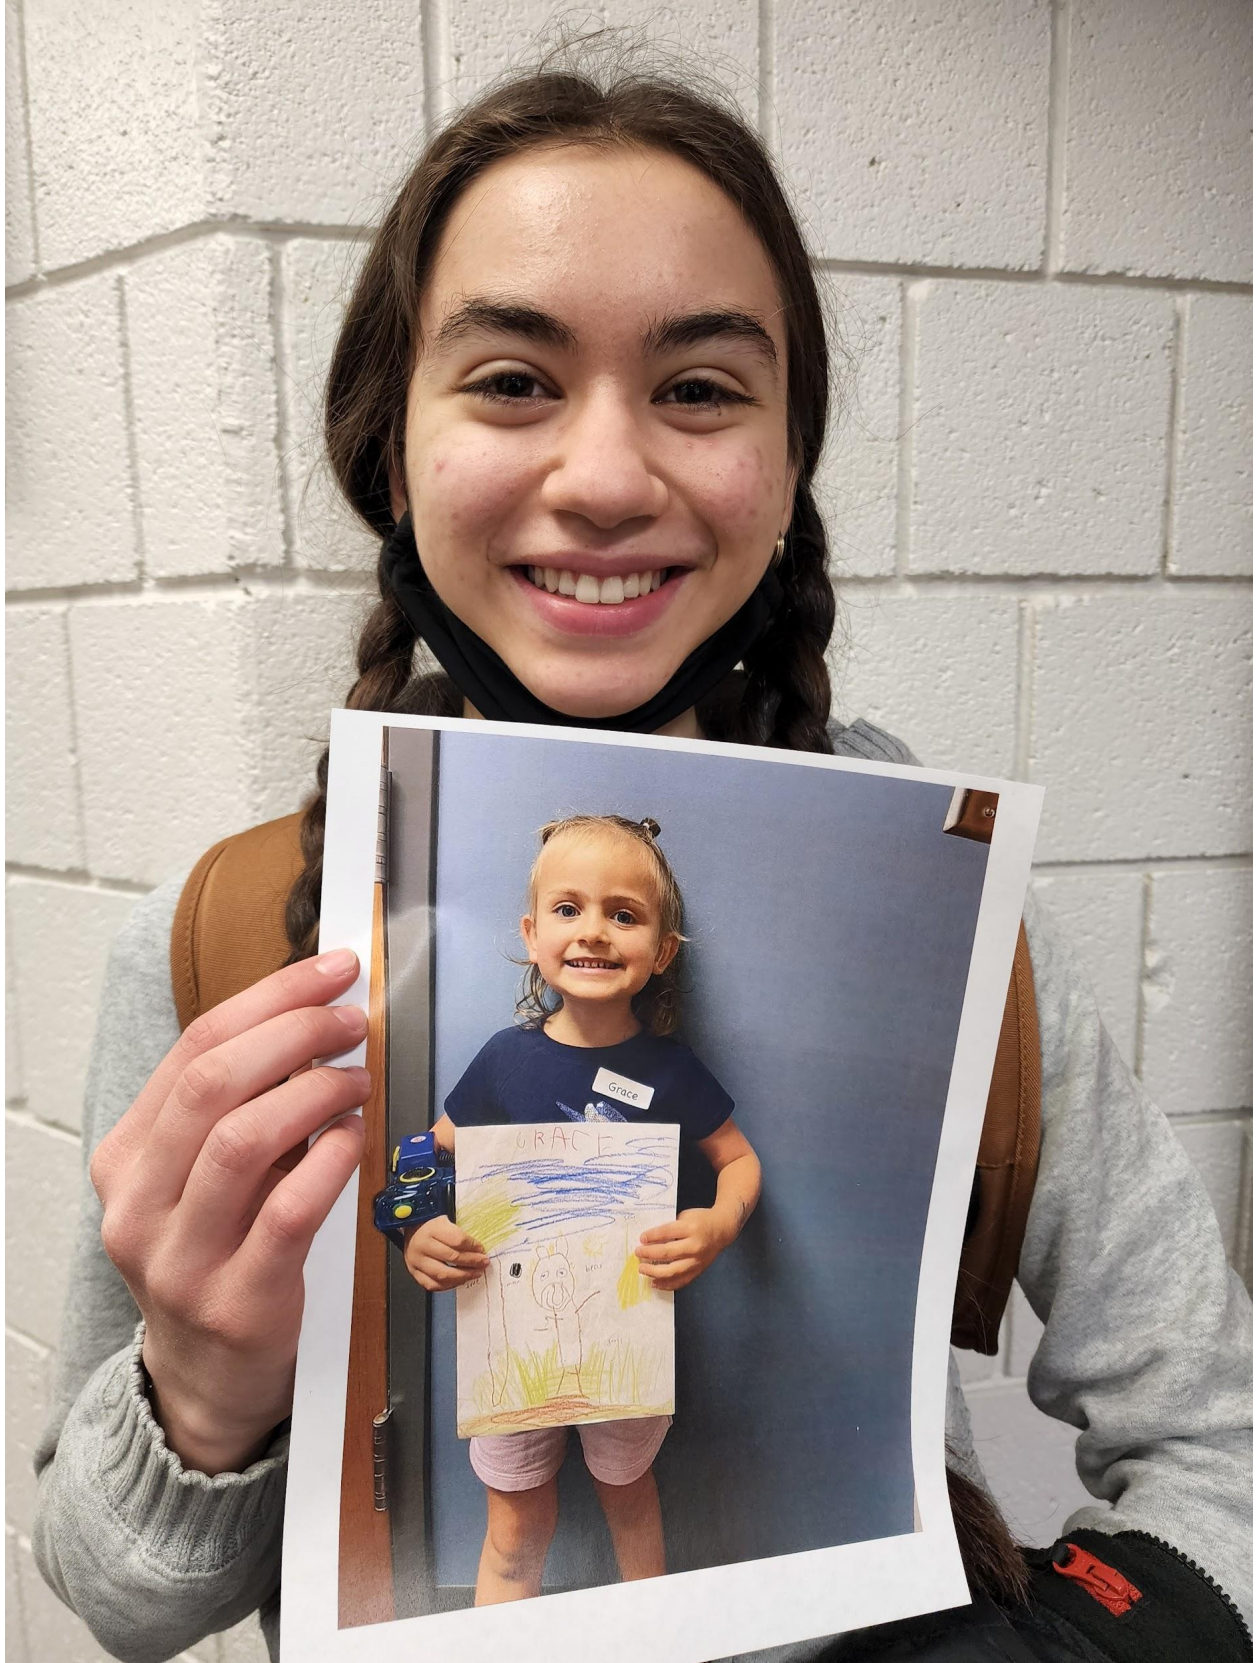

Micah decided to listen to some music while his parents were gone. He had so much fun!

When his parents came back home, Micah was fast asleep. He was so tired out from all the music! But he had been okay. He had fun all by himself! His parents were happy to see that he was okay too!

A DREAM COME TRUE

By: Aylin Erden Dedicated to : Grace

To cover from the strong rays of the sun, a bear would sit underneath the tree on the soft fluffy grass watching the sky.

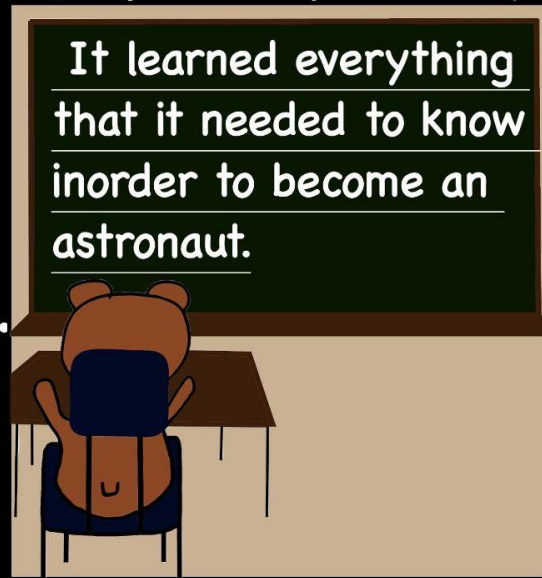

When the sun set, she was amazed by how pretty the night sky looked. With the bright shining moon and stars.

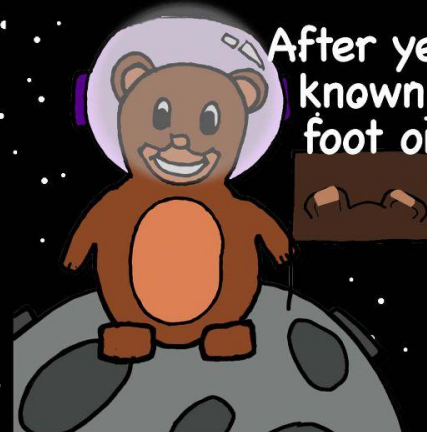

"I'm going to be up there one day," the bear said.

The bear studied hard for years.

It learned everything that it needed to know in order to become an astronaut.

After years of studying, the bear was known as the first bear to ever set foot on the moon.

The bear learned that if you have a dream you have to chase it until it comes true and never give up.

Ivan and Andrew's Adventure

One morning, Ivan the hedgehog decided to go on a walk around the beautiful and peaceful meadow that he lived in. Hedgehog decided to go on a walk around the beautiful and peaceful meadow that he lived in.

He had many friends in this meadow, like Bonnie the bunny and Kenneth the Caterpillar. Out of the many animals in the meadow his best friend was Andrew the deer.

Andrew was quite a bit taller than Ivan but that did not stop them from being friends. Soon after Ivan left for his walk he stumbles across Andrew.

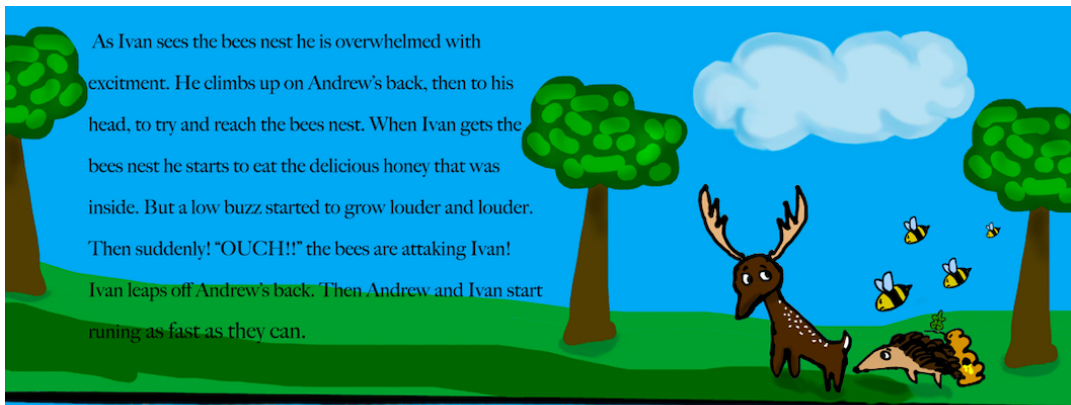

After Ivan found Andrew they continued on the trail together. But soon Ivan is struck with hunger. He mentions to Andrew that he is hungry.

"Andrew I'm Starving!" as they continue down the trail Andrew declares "then let's search for something to eat." Andrew was a very kind and understanding friend.

It was hard for Ivan to see anything with how close he was to the ground, but soon Andrew spots a bees nest. "look Ivan a bees nest!!" Andrew exclaims "think of all that delicious Honey!!"

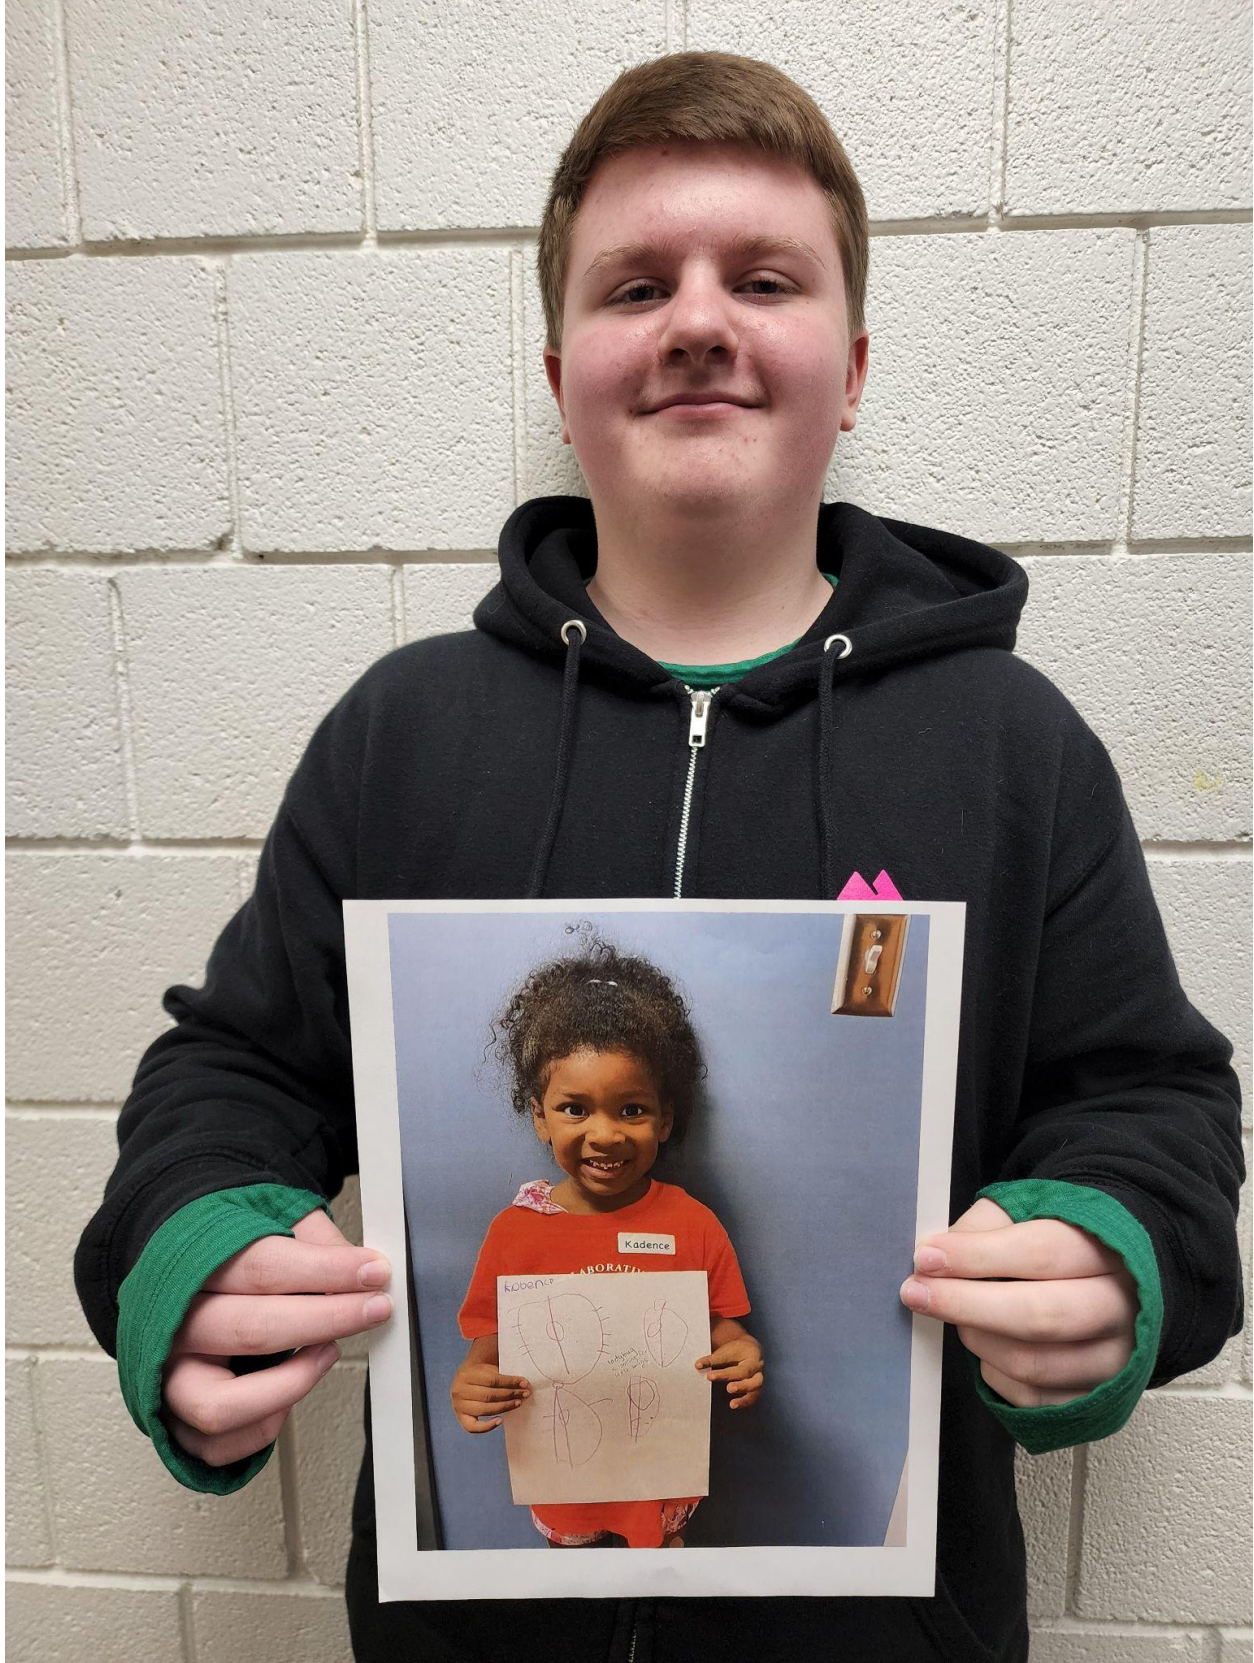

As Ivan sees the bees nest he is overwhelmed with excitement. He climbs up on Andrew's back, then to his head, to try and reach the bees nest. When Ivan gets the bees nest he starts to eat the delicious honey that was inside. But a low buzz started to grow louder and louder. Then suddenly! "OUCH!!" the bees are attacking Ivan! Ivan leaps off Andrew's back. Then Andrew and Ivan start running as fast as they can.

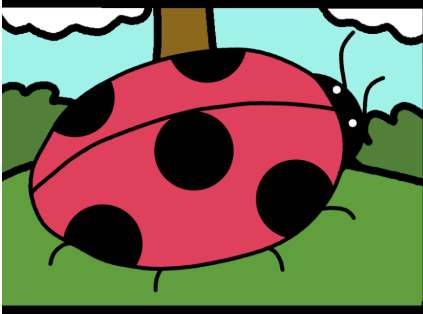

After a long chase and a lot of bee stings they lose the bees and sit in the shade of a few walnut tree as they eat the delicious honey. Soon after they finish the honey they fall fast asleep having satisfied their

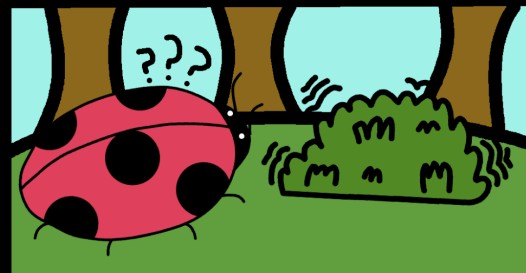

The Ladybug and the Little Bugs

Written by Kadence - Illustrated by James

One day, a Ladybug was wandering in The Forest. Suddenly, the Ladybug started to feel lonely and decided to go looking for some little bug friends. So, she went further into The Forest.

On her adventure, she saw some Bushes. Then, the Bushes moved. She then thought, "Are there little bugs in the Bushes?" so, she went into the Bushes to find out.

Inside the Bush, the Ladybug found a Firefly. "Hello, do you want to help me find more little bugs?", said the Ladybug. The Firefly responded, "Yeah! I'm so tired of sleeping all day". And they were off.

Suddenly, they came across an Anthill. "There must be little bugs in here!" said the Ladybug. "I'll stay out here", said the Firefly, "I don't like the Dirt." And so, the Ladybug went in alone.

Inside the Anthill, the Ladybug found an Ant.

"Do you want to come join me and my friend The Firefly on a search for little bugs?" said the Ladybug. "Totally man! It beats eating food all day", said the Ant. And they left.

When they got outside, the Firefly was gone. "Where is your other bug friend?" said the Ant. "I don't know." said the Ladybug, "Maybe, he was Eaten!" "Oh no!" said the Ant, "what will we do?!"

After hours of searching, it got dark outside, and the Fireflies lit up the sky. "How will we find him now?" said the Ant. "Hey there he is!" said the Ladybug.

"Hi guys, sorry I left, I must've fallen asleep again," said the Firefly. "It's okay," said the Ladybug, "The important thing is that we're together." And they watched the sky.

The Mouse and its Honey

By Mick
Dedicated to Ren

Winter was approaching quickly, and the animals of the forest were gathering food. A mouse living in the trunk of the tree had ambitions beyond the mere nuts and berries that other mice craved. He was longing for a jar of honey, so knowing that the bear had a huge stash of it, he decided to go to the bear's house. He crawled out of the tree trunk and headed for the bear's house in search for the honey.

When he arrived, the bear was hibernating. He snuck inside, walked through the living room, and into the kitchen. He opened the cabinet and took out a jar of honey. He then snuck back out into the snowy forest and back home.

The mouse had been stealing the bear's honey until spring had arrived. Then one day when he entered and opened the cabinet, he turned around and saw the bear standing right behind him. The bear yelled "What are you doing in my house?" The mouse was frozen with fear. The bear asked him again. But the mouse turned around and ran.

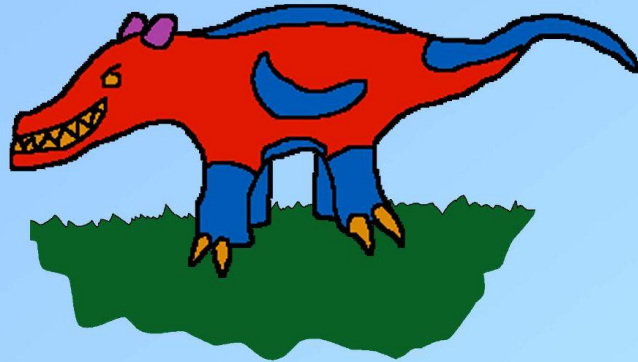

After a few days, the mouse went to fetch some water. When he arrived, he met the bear by the river. The mouse turned around to run away but heard the bear speak. The bear told him, "If you ever want anything from me, you can just ask instead of stealing."
